

1st January, 1934.

Professor J.Huxley,
King's College,
Strand.

Dear Huxley,

The morning meeting was one proposed by Bramwell, with a view to seeing what could be done to mitigate the feelings aroused among Biological members of the Council during the recent meeting of that body. It would be very good if you could find time to come, as you are one of the few people likely to see more than one point of view.

Yours sincerely,