

16 June 1943

My dear Huxley,

It is most kind of you to send me a line of congratulation on the action of the Electors at Cambridge. I am looking forward to going there presently, though it will be difficult to live up to the hopes of my friends. You will, I hope, be able to find time to visit me there some times, and I shall be most particularly glad to have your views on how such a Department should be organised as a permanent institution.

Yours sincerely,

I do hope you will be able to visit the bank.