Morning Song.
Words by Edith (Naboth) Bland.
Music by Arthur Williamson.
Morning Song

Moderato.

Baby darling wake and see.

mornings here my little rose open eyes and smile at me. Cheer asleep and kiss you close

Baby darling smile for then. Mother sees the sun again.

Baby darling sleep no more! All the other flowers have done with their sleeping — you my flower.
Oh, the only sleepy one. All the pink frilled claube shawnt bring our little sister out.

Baby darling in the sun. Birds are singing sweet and shrill. And my bird is the only one.
That is rested, softly still. Baby if you only knew.

All the birds are calling you, calling, calling you.

Baby darling, all is bright.

God has brought the sunshine here, and the sleepy
Silent night, come back soon en enough my dear.

Wake my darling night is done, sunbeam call my little one.

Wake my darling sunbeam call.
Words by Edith (Nettie) Bland.

"Morning Song" -- Music by Arthur Williamson.

Baby darling wakes and see.

Morning's here my little rose, Open eyes and smile at me. Owe I clap and kiss you close.
Baby darling smile for then. Mother see the sun again.

Baby darling sleep no more! All the other flowers have done with their sleeping— you my flower.
Are the only sleepy one
All the pink-filled
Daisy's shout bring our little sister out.

Baby darling in the sun, Birds are singing sweet and still

And my bride the only one That is needed softly still.
Baby if you only knew, all the birds are calling.

Baby darling, all is bright, God has brought the Sunshine here, and the sleepy, silent night comes back soon enough, my dear! Wake my darling.

Night is done. Sun beams call my little one

Wake my darling, sunbeams call, call my little one.