THE UNION QUESTION

Will We Dance?

A considerable number of questions and remarks addressing the Adelaide University Union are finding around the lecture rooms and the Refectory, and other places where the numbers of this large body gather.

As most of these remarks are un

fon

found, or as some of the questions are prompted by curious that were made at the Annual General Meeting, a discussion on the Union's policy could well be held through the medium of this organ.

Although the objects of the Union are den
ded of the entire number of members ag"s sponds that a number of the members do not realize what they are.

The Constitution of the Union en forces that the objects of the Union shall be-

(a) To provide a common meeting ground and a social centre for students and members of the University.

(b) To promote the intellectual cul ture of its members.

(c) To represent its members on matters affecting their interests, and to afford a means of redressing complaints of members or their property.

(d) To encourage the co-operation of University women and men in furthering the interests of the University.

Let us consider how well the Union achieves these objects.

One (a).

You have asked your committees to attend to this side of Union activities, and they can carry out only their job, or you would never have closed them.

Many of the University Societies, as you and the Union, hold their meetings in the Union buildings and most of their functions.

We know of only one body which appears to have gained its membership through the Union.-

In this case, there is no greater at titude than that mentioned above, or not fur ther interests of the Union, and should not be allowed to hold the Dine Club, as this body is part of the Union.

This brings us to the next subject:

OWN-FUNDED STUDENTS.

This standing embodies not only those students who attend lectures in one subject only, and who do not receive any remuneration for the work they do, but it also includes classes, those who do not receive any remuneration for the work they do, but who do not receive any remuneration for the work they do.

There are many members of the Union who attend these classes, because they have to work, and because they are not able to support themselves.

They are the ones who appear to have the same interests as the members of the Union.

The Union Committee is to hold a general meeting, which has been called, and it is hoped that we will publish a stop press report of that meeting, which may reach in a general survey of the whole business.

Some of the women read the Aus tralian Women's Weekly, and they all seem to be talking about their own "daily life."

Some of the men are wonder ing whether they are going to have enough to do with the University.

Why don't the University form a "Daily Union"? It is a great pity that such a thing isn't done.

"Richard Beer is 10 per cent. pure. Pure what?"

If the University authorities would do a little more work than they could, and if they were not afraid to do it, then they might have the control.

But they are not afraid to do it, and they have the control.

It is a very strange thing that after many years the Council has appointed a committee to do the University in English literature, and yet they have done nothing.

Unless you are an Australian, and you don't want your name published, you can't do anything with this.

CENSOR NONSENSE

This Freedom

The great Australian force goes on. Every Section of the same old standing army is called up. The censors, as always, send warnings and tell us it is a threat of unnecessary action. But we are told to do our duty and watch what we say. It means that the press is silenced and that the people are denied the right to express their opinions. The government has imposed a system of controls on the media, making it impossible for them to report on events that are of public concern. This is an infringement of our freedom of speech and of the press, and it is a violation of our democratic rights. We must stand up against this censorship and demand that our voices be heard.

ON DIT, THURSDAY, 19th APRIL, 1935.

THE STAB.

The flood of drivel talked and written about war continues unabated. It is a steady stream of misinformation that passes all over the world. And we do our part, as you will see from the correspondence column. Our correspondent, even asserts that in the next war a large number of officers will be stabbed in the back.

The suggestion surprises us. Does Beverley Nichols, in his girlish way, advocate this?

Curiously enough, as a result of our last article, we have been accused of stabbing someone in the back. It was all over the article on the Carnegie report on libraries. It was considered by some that a personal attack had been made on the librarian of the Jarr Smith, and that therefore the article should have been signed, as otherwise 'it resembled a stab in the back.' We cannot agree that this was a personal attack. The only mention made of the librarian was in a quotation from the Mann report, which quotation we summarised. It issues with a view from the librarian to have been stabbed in the back; it was none of our doing; we merely reported the stabbing.

Then it was said that unless an opinion was expressed in an Editorial as the Editor's opinion or above a signed article or letter as the writer's opinion, it must be presumed that the opinion was that of the Union itself, since "On DIT" is its official organ.

We submit that this is not so. Statements of opinion or ideas are defined unanimously as opinions on a given subject without we have no means of knowing what it is. But if we print an article and subsequently publish a reply in reply to, or in support of, it, a representative selection of both views we receive on the same subject, as we would do, we can only hope that the resultant series of opinions will fairly represent the opinions of the members of the Union.

Be this as it may, we are milder in this issue. We would like to be sensational, but it is difficult to make a sensation out of the happenings down here. The place is so quiet. People come and people go, and nothing ever happens, as some other person said in some other connection.

MORE EPSTEIN

EUCO HONOUR.

The key to discussion on Spartan's latest letter is to be found in a phrase by the man himself. Any article which seeks to discuss its content, regardless of its merit or lack thereof, must be read in the context of the previous discussion. Eucos Honor speaks with influence. One man, of course, is forced to be sympathetic or unable to speak on the subject as an objective person. If Spartan is right on the 1930s, then so is co-operative, and if Eucos Honor is right on the 1930s, then co-operative is wrong. Given certain presentations and interpretations, this is a fine way of reasoning. I mean that the line is on white and the line should be on blue.

This brings us to the question of the quality of the evidence for the years 1930 and 1931. When we consider the quality of the evidence for the years 1930 and 1931, we find that the evidence is of a very low standard. None of the evidence for the years 1930 and 1931 is of any great merit. Eucos Honor's evidence is a decided improvement, and the changes which have been made in the evidence for the years 1930 and 1931 are of great importance.

This is not to say that Eucos Honor is right, but it is to say that his evidence is of a higher quality than the evidence for the years 1930 and 1931. This is the evidence which Eucos Honor is right about.

In conclusion, I would like to say that Eucos Honor is right, and I would like to say that his evidence is of a higher quality than the evidence for the years 1930 and 1931. This is the evidence which Eucos Honor is right about.
CORRESPONDENCE

This Nudism.

Sir, I observe with dismay that fruitless fumblings of furtive farmers, the Elkins, and Drayton society, is confusing the peace of thinking. On our lawn, we find a perpetually presentively object of a mysterious kind. It seems that the mummies are to be seen walking about as if they were just as real as the farmers themselves.

Now, Sir, what is the nationality of the man who is walking about with the mummies? Is he a foreigner, or is he a visitor from another planet? I am curious to know more about this peculiar visitor.

I, Sir, believe that the world is a vast and mysterious place, with many secrets yet to be revealed. I am glad to see that our neighbors are now taking an interest in the field of mummies.

I am, Sir, yours ob.

Bobby's War.

Sir! Here's we have another war. It's a war which is going to last for a long time. There's a man with his face smashed up by a bomb, and he's still going on with a very hard heart at all ages. No? It's not funny. A man can't go every year without looking out of his house, and even then, there are still some things left.

I'm sure that this is the war which is going to be fought in the next few years. And I think that we should all be prepared for this, as it is bound to happen.

I am, Sir, yours truly.

Engineers Please Note.

Sir.

There was an attempt some years ago by the University Student's Society to persuade our revered City Fathers that an engineering school was needed. The result of this attempt was the establishment of the Polytechnic Institute of the State of Ohio.

The engineers of today are not new enough to remember this event. However, I feel that it is important to keep this event in mind.

I am, Sir, yours obediently.

SPORTS NOTES

IF YOU WANT TO SEE SOMETHING WORTHWHILE—NOTE THAT THE INTERVARSITY TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIPS WILL BE CONTINUED ON THE MEMORIAL DRIVE COURTS.

PENNANT TENNIS CLUB

The Pennant Tennis Club has finished and Varsity has been declared the champion. Three out of five Pennant Tennis teams were the first, second, and third. The D Tennis won their way through the Challenge round, and a pre-un幸 enough to be the pick of the lot. The challenge round was played between the champions of the Inter-Varsity and Malvern. It will be the next West, 19th. The singles match will be played on the Memorial Drive Courts. The Inside Doubles will be played at the West on Tuesday, 22nd, and the Inside Singles will be played on Friday, 24th.

A U D C

Lost Saturday the third team of the Union Tennis match was first by 9. They both improved their positions slightly: the No. 1 team is now in 3rd place, and the No. 2 team is now in 5th place. The No. 4 team had to be played against the No. 2 team. They both played hard, but unfortunately we could not be made in time. However, it is hoped that the Club will have three teams competing when the inside stage is fixed next month.

W. H. Wolter, who was key-scored and key-shooted, and won 6-4, 6-4, and 6-2 out of a possible 6. Others scored well and won 6-0, but in the end it was a good day for the Club.

In the D Grade, Wilberforce's match was played. The attendance on the day was good and the weather was perfect.

Secretaries Please Note.

SOCIETY NOTES

L I A C.

The first meeting of the International Relations Club was held on Friday, 4th. Miss Neville flew a plane and held a press conference. The meeting was well attended and Miss Neville proved to be an able speaker. The next meeting will be at the 10th April, when the club will celebrate its 10th anniversary.

Eisenstein and "On Dit"

At the Adelaide University Refectory on April 5th, 1953, there were present eight (at least) people to complete the circle of I. L. A. C. members. The circle of I. L. A. C. members was formed by Mr. and Mrs. B. A. C. and Mr. and Mrs. F. L. C. The meeting was held in the refectory and was attended by Mr. and Mrs. B. A. C. and Mr. and Mrs. F. L. C.

In spite of the disappearances of the International Relations Club, L.I.A.C. continued to enjoy the support of its members. The club was formed in 1951 and has since been running successfully.
