CRITICISM OF ORCHESTRA CAUSES STIRRING.

The question of the artistic standard of symphony orchestras has been a hot topic in recent months. The question of whether symphony orchestras can maintain a high level of artistic performance is a matter of concern for many music enthusiasts. This discussion is not only important to musicians and music lovers, but also to the broader public who attend concerts and enjoy classical music.

SEVERAL NOT SO STRAIGHT ANSWERS

(Ellicited by Our Special Representative.)

As considerable interest seems to have been generated by an article which was published in our last issue, and so much that the Conservatorium staff decided to submit the article, we went along to meet Mr. Harold Parnell.

We did not have to wait long before we were told why the Conservatorium was in such a state. It does not like the idea of being associated with the Australian Orchestra. Mr. Parnell, however, said that our writers' contribution to the musical development of Australia and the South Australian Orchestra. Mr. Parnell did not like the idea. He said that the Conservatorium is a Conservatorium people, and that the terms 'Orchestra and Conservatorium' should be replaced with terms appropriate to the artistic requirements of the Orchestra and Conservatorium. He also said that the Conservatorium must be seen as a unique institution with a unique role to play in the development of music in Australia.

We talked over the question of personal, public, and programme policy. The programme policy is one which is controlled by finance. The programme does not appeal anything more than twice a year.

As the Conservatorium has so little to do with the Orchestra, it is 대하여 to say that the Conservatorium is a Conservatorium people, and that the terms 'Orchestra and Conservatorium' should be replaced with terms appropriate to the artistic requirements of the Orchestra and Conservatorium. He also said that the Conservatorium must be seen as a unique institution with a unique role to play in the development of music in Australia.

It is hoped, however, that under Mr. Parnell's direction, the Conservatorium will succeed in bringing the two institutions closer together.

Society Notes

As we have received no notes from any of the Societies other than the indefatigable S.C.M., we are naturally unable to publish any.

S.C.M.
The S.C.M. Conference of 2nd-3rd August was a success. The subject under discussion was "The Church in the Community." The speakers were the Rev. F. C. Oliver, the Rev. H. H. Inger, the Rev. Harold Giles, Mr. W. Johnson, and Mr. A. T. Masterly. Mr. Bruce Gosewiek, who is taking Mr. Lenie Andrew's place as Travelling Secretary, was present at the Conference.

INTERVARSITY DEBATING TEAM.
Moana, R. W. Fisk (Leader), M. M. B. Finniss, and T. E. Nicholls, who compete in the Inter-varsity section next week. We wish them the best of luck.

ENGINEERING SOCIETY.
On Tuesday, 3rd August, the A.E.E.R held its 2nd Annual Dinne. The several reasons for this decision was something out of the ordinary. The Dinner Committee consisted of twenty students only, and with the exception of four chartering sides who assisted with the floral decorations, none students organized and produced what was probably the best dinner of the year. Decorations in the spirit of the Graduation Night were seen. Engineering students cut down and made the decorations, with success. "The Musical Instrument" and "The Centimetre" were both successfully performed, and all other instruments necessary to the student.
