Student Hostel - Varsity Hall

60 BODS AT £2/8-/

From 50 to 60 students will be housed in a student hostel known as "University Hall Incorporated," at a cost of £2/8/- per student, if plans passed by the Student Representative Council last week are brought to fruition.

The plans were considered a first step in the formation of the Student's Committee, and as such a report on the committee's activities was also presented. It appears that the constitution of the Student Housing Committee, as presented by Mr. R.C. to the Student's Committee two weeks ago, has been amended and a committee of 12 members, including the chairman, will be appointed.

£20,000 NEEDED

At present no finance has been made available for the "University Hall," and as far as the student is concerned, there was no available. As several contributions will be recorded in the minutes, the vice-chancellor, Mr. E.M. Dennis, chairman of the Student Housing Committee, assured the student body that all efforts shall be put forth to provide the necessary funds to aid student residents.

WAR MEMORIAL?

There was a proposal that the Hostel be established as a war memorial. The report stated:

MEN AND WOMEN

In the report stated, 60 students, plus staff, will be housed, depending on the size of the property obtained. Both men and women will be accommodated in separate sleeping blocks. Communal dining and recreation rooms will be included.

TUTORIAL SYSTEM

A tutorial system will possibly be set up at the Hall, to last continuing in the winter term, to receive tutorial assistance. It is hoped to provide a library to aid student residents in their studies.

HALL COUNCIL

The Hall will be governed by a council of 12 members selected from amongst University Senate and staff, and one member, who will be a graduate, nominated by Drummond, University Association. The Council of the E.R.C. (excluding the President) will be responsible for the management of the Hall. All members of the Council will be elected by the students, and will be responsible for the management of the Hall.

STUDENTS ELECTED

Student members elected to the Interim Hall Council by the E.R.C. will consist of 12 members, chosen by the students at the end of the academic year. When this article was incorporated into last year's report, serving as a service to university students, there were a few disputed points. The author did not agree to any of the changes, and was asked to resign. The author, however, was not awarded any honours.

FRIDAY, JUNE 17

1:15 p.m. - Art Festival. Architectural lecture by Mr. M. McClelland, Secretary of the Art Festival.

1:20 p.m. - Arts Festival Debate. "Art and Society." The students of the Arts faculty took part in this debate. The debate was well attended, and was won by the Arts faculty.

2 p.m. - Arts Festival. Discussion on "Theater To-day." Arranged by the Student Theatre Group.

Three hours after he had been knocked down by his food on a bicycle, a car drove into the view of the windows on the University Library last week. Ivan Schubert, bicycle student, was killed in the accident. The car did not stop, but continued on its way. The accident occurred at 6:30 p.m., last Monday, June 6. Schubert was riding south, along Victoria Street, with his brother, John, on a Beverley June bicycle, when the car hit him.

Miss Bishop told police that she was driving from Oxford, and that the car was passing along Oxford Street, when she saw the bicycle. The car then turned right, and the bicycle hit a parked car. Schubert was pronounced dead on the spot.

Publicity Commissar

Colin Barden, a second-year student at the University of Sydney, was appointed Publicity Commissar of the Student Representative Council at the last meeting of the E.R.C. This appointment follows the resignation of Brian Cox after he had been censured by council concerning the matter of a notice.
MAN BITES MAN

Although the full campaign for World Student Relief is still in the blue-print stage, the new feature already has its foundations down. This year a personnel approach will be made to every student.

Stunt days and Faculty committees are a thing of the past. Now, and they have been for a long time, the prepare to make a conscious contribution to these affairs, and that they are not being taxed directly to give to Student Relief. Direct response to an appeal to every student is needed, and it must be a personal appeal. Appeals have been made before, in "On This" and the "South Molton" Series, but they are too commonly ignored. This year, then, we will have our feu and games. It is hoped that there will be a dance, which should be the best of the year, a stunt day, a concert by Conservatorium students, and a Faculty competi- tion for the aesthetically minded, to be followed by our class "newspaper" hair show, last two and last lecture on World Student Relief and enhance your enjoy- ment of the whole day, including thearden of the Arts Festival. In addition to all this, there will be every oppor- tunity to give to Student Relief. Other faculty clubs are also offering opportunity to people who want to show their appreciation. If you are interested in this, you will find that there is an active student body which meets north of Adelaide, sometimes on the shores of the Ganges, giving talks on the "everyday" student's point of view, and discussing everything that might happen from time to time. There is no lack of talent among the members of the group. With all these conditions, an enthusiastic student should have no problem in raising a certain amount of money. Adventure

North with Camelfoot

A STARTLING discovery was made by second-year Geology students near Ralhine recently. They had found some "fossicious" cross-breeding.

Camelots (2)

From the angle of camel hunting, there is a great deal of amusement in the idea of an official "Camelot". The idea of a "Camelot" in the west of England, however, is not much amused. The idea of a "Camelot" in the desert of Africa, however, is met with great interest. The idea of a "Camelot" in the desert of Africa, however, is met with great interest.

Art Festival Opens Today

Inaugurating the first Art Festival to be held at this University, Mr. Louis McHugh will open the Art Exhibition to-day as the initial programme.

Two hundred guests were expected at the opening on the Lady Lang Hall this afternoon at 3 p.m., to which admission is by invitation only. Mr. McHugh, who is Director of the National Gallery, will be introduced by Mr. Throgmorton, President of the Artists' Club.

Jazz Cabaret

In the evening, the Festival will be the means of the University's Jazz Club. These groups will be on hand during the day to provide that old standard in New Orleans "live" atmosphere.

AT the annual commencement of the College in September, Mr. Barlow, in appreciation of its services to the university, presented a clarinet to the Register. The clarinet is to be used in a new band to be formed in the future.

Bible Myths Are True?

Every so-called Bible myth that has been falsified has survived the test, said Mr. Allan Maclean, of the School of Religion, this week. The first chapter of the Book of Genesis sets out in actual scientific order six steps in the preparation of the earth for man. Mr. Wilson, a biblical scholar, showed that in each of the six so-called "creationists" or "fundamentalists" views the Bible is used as a "proof" for his own beliefs. After all, these people, himself, for whom a special word "created" is used to give a difference from the lower forms of life. This difference is in its entirety for communication with his Maker.

The speaker went on to tell of the disappearance of Sir John Herschel and others at Jervis, and many other stories mentioned in the Bible. Garstang was convinced of the accuracy of the fall of Gethsemane as recorded in the Book of Job.

Archaeologists refer to the "Flying Law of Noah" in the Mesopotamian region. There is evidence that this extended even as far as Cenozoic.

Finally, Mr. Wilson said that, although the Roman historian, refers to the resurrection of Jesus Christ as a fact.
FOOTLIGHT NEWS

"KEEP IT CLEAN"

We hear about...

• Revue Dates
The Revue will be held in the Tivoli Theatre on December 26 to 29.
This grand party will be held after the last show.

• Production
The production of the Revue this year will be in the hands of the production committee, consisting of Frank Segal, Norman Brown, Louis Polsky, and Miss Gavan Mooney, who is ballet mistress.

• Membership
The membership, two-footed during last week, of the first term makes another 100 members to the club's rolls. This was quite satisfying, and shows the interest that is shown in the club. Each membership is now well subscribed, so that nobody still wishing to join, can be re-contacted. Bruce Marshall, in the Student Theatre Group room. The fee is only 2/-. and the same privileges still apply.

THE DEFEAT OF LOVE
With hearty hope abandoned that he held of peace for a man's two men of woman naught could be travelled the high eave, friend of the cunning sly and the aiding room.

For with sad heart the country's not a day better, the world's eyes, that turns her beam upon the sly, and hence himself a man no stronger than the snapping of his eyrie.

Then winding up the fray-ended of a life tangled in that dim town, he turned to the press of the rags and the ragamuffin.

But he, the youth destroyed, without a pain or pride, grew from a daisy that died inside the brain into a glorious bird that plumed the murmuring socrates of the clod and stirred the ancient city with a cry.

THE CINEMA

A DEPARTURE FROM FORMULA

In the motion picture industry, the American studios have been so completely the home of the true-to-formula movie, that any departure from convention is gratefully received by all true lovers of the cinema.

Double Feature, for instance, to which the sponsorship of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, for in addition to being a fine film, it made none on locales in Germany, in particularly unimaginative surroundings, and with a cast of little-known players.

The problem treated in a love story, then, that vital problem in the lives of those who did not die in the Pacific in these last years. The tragedy of the triangle is shown in its true light and the hero of U.N.R.A.A. is given the doleful task. No, the "scrub" or the "twitch" of the title, is that of an American-born woman, her nine-year-old daugher, and her grand-daughter, as they come to grips with the story. The story of the picture was being researched for seven months by each of the four writers, telling of the woman when told her child has been drowned. More of the film, however, is devoted to the boy, who is the son of a working-class soldier, bought a young French photographer, and is now waiting two years to be discharged from the U.S. Navy after a year's tour in the Far East.

Director Fred Linsinman, who is now in the middle of making a new kid, is giving a moment's drag, but is gradually becoming a director of dramatic power to the inevitable, yet intensely moving, climax.

Although Montgomery Cliff, who plays the daugther, was unknown when "The Furtive" was refused, he has now become a favorite wherever the film goes.

FAREWELL, MacMASTER

I have little patience with those people who condemn "The McMasters Company out of hand, particularly those people in an amateur theatre circle, who may not know better. They should know better. It is not to deny that there were many things wrong in the productions at the Majestic Theatre, but to protest against the attitude of some people who refused to see that there were many things right with them as well. In my opinion, people, who are students of the theatre, who work in it and make it their main hobby, could not be made profit by watching the productions closely and thus benefit the welfare of Adelaide amateur theatre generally.

In such cases, I bring my thanks to the people critiqued, my thanks to Mr. McMasters, to Mr. R. J. MacMaster, to the people who received the tickets and are not as sure of the success of the production as in this season. Artistically considered as productions were not as good as they could have been. But Mr. MacMaster as producer, most of the time more than fine by anyone, and I am sure that the productions are due to the hard work of the actors, who take their place and see integrated to form a definite impression upon the audience. The productions were not as good as they could have been, but in each case in putting on a show, I believe that the general mood is emotional values were brought out in the audience. In this respect, there are some emotional values which are superior; there is a certain work, even if it is marred by inferior production. To all up, my criticism arises from the fact that there is a very great and obvious difference between an artist and a craftsman. And this was a disadvantage, but there were compensations, the plays were good, for example, and good efforts with the second play, which seemed, in part, due to the part of the man in the text, particularly the fine work of the Players' or the scene. Also that the every theatrical model is a great, the every theatrical model is an artist, and that is the difference between one act, and not one of us is off the stage, and not saying a word. Then there

POETRY AND SCIENCE (IV)
A DEVELOPING WORLD

The Romantic revalued was a re-action against Augustan poetry. In the Augustan age, to be a Smarke or a Dryden was not only conceivable, it was mathematically deducible from a mechanical universe. The greatest effect of their doctrines was to emancipate the human imagination. Concerned, at first, that the French Revolution would be an aberration from which the Germanic verve would be a corrective for the excesses of this century, they became the parents of the Romantic movement. This movement has been described as an explanation collapse when we read it, first, that many Romantics were conservatives rather than revolutionaries in their sympathies, and, secondly, that the French revolution was the more serious in its consequences. The second widely-held opinion is that the preoccupation of the Romantic movement with the remote historical past was due to the revolutionary ferment of the period. This opinion is of the greatest importance, particularly in the case of Schiller and Goethe. In the latter, we find a Manichean view of the world, in which the forces of good and evil are opposed. This view was held by many of the Romantics, and it is evident in the work of Schiller and Goethe.

In the later eighteenth century, this movement was strengthened by advances in biology and geology. The view that man was one of the species of life, and that all life was subject to the same laws and forces, was accepted by many of the Romantics. This view was held by many of the Romantics, and it is evident in the work of Schiller and Goethe.

In the last century, Shakespeare was considered one of the poets with the poetic, and the mind that could communicate, through his imaginative response to life, with the force and guiding principle behind all laws and truth. He described such an experience:

"Imagination was the Power of all men.

"The original essence of human speech.

"The original essence of consciousness of the mind.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Contributors are reminded to write on one side of the paper, use black ink, and not exceed 500 words. Proper identification of author's name must be available for publication.

Mr. Molloy is failing to comply with these requests and is asked to observe the rules in future.

FROM PRAGUE

Sir,—In your March 14 issue, you publish the following editorial headed "Regeration in Czechoslovakia". The text appears to be incomplete. It seems to be missing the remainder of the article. I would be grateful if you could provide the full text.

Mr. Molloy continues, "...the party is in a hopeless state for political reasons. Yet, with the 'naze's' ability to take a firm grip, it is obvious that a new era is dawning for the country."

RATINGS, ETC.

Sir,—What is the difference between the Commerce, tour-travelers, and EPC ratings? It seems that there are multiple rating systems in place in various countries, and it is confusing for travelers. Can you clarify which rating system is used in Australia, and how it compares to the others?

WORLD GOVERNMENT

Sir,—On the evening of Monday, June 6, in the Institute Building of the University of Oxford, a meeting was held attended by approximately 100 people. The meeting was organized by the Oxford Society for World Government, who was present in South Australia. The aim of this meeting was to discuss the possibility of forming a constitutional convention in which all peoples of the world could be represented. The delegates are to be appointed by each branch of the United Nations and are expected to meet in London for one year of preparatory work. They are to draft a constitution for a world government, which is to be a federal constitution with a single tier of government.

This is an event of great importance for those who believe in the possibility of world government. It is an opportunity for all peoples to come together and discuss the future of the world. I urge everyone to attend and participate in this important event.

ACHSKY-NAKRY

The "Seven (Intellectual) Dwarves" (which includes Achsky-Nakry) have decided that "Distillation" is the only possible solution to our contemporary problems. They have even run into a print. For this reason, they are in West Germany. We are Mindestern, Deutscher Christen of Jesus Chutzpah in Sydney. We are the only ones who are holding on to our ideals. We are not interested in anything else. We are not interested in economic considerations. We are interested in the quality of life and the quality of the intellectual community. We are not interested in any other political groups. We are not interested in anyone else. We are only interested in the intellectual community.

Unquantified Anarchist

Sir,—It is very gratifying to see that, despite the recent events, the government has attended the Refectory staff meeting. It is a step in the right direction.

With true blissful spirit, the Refectory staff, "Umi", and, not even an ideology, which is the "Being and the Power of the People" ("On the Essence of the People's Power") as the path to the new society.

The People's Power should be conceptualized on continuing what was started in the past. The tendencies of this University, which is the "Empire of the People's Power" ("On the Essence of the People's Power") should be continued.
Eight in State Team

Football Club's Good Representation

In their wisdom, the selectors of the South Australian Amateur League selected 63 boys for the Australian team, including eight Varsity men to play against New Zealand in the annual match between the two countries. New Zealand's squad is composed of eight Varsity players, and the match is expected to be a hard-fought contest.

The South Australian team consists of players from all over the state, and is expected to be a strong contender for the title. The match is scheduled for next weekend and fans are excited to see the outcome.

FEMALETHICS

Setting what is probably a record, or certainly equaling any existing record, Mary Magtagger won every game in the Women's Softball Series held in the Oval Park on May 15th.

With the possible 28 games played, she was followed by Nell Sprouse, 23, and Betty Aspin, 20, points. Although the minutes were not calculated, it was declared that the game was her best, with her play being rated outstanding.

RESULTS

Inter-Faculty Soccer

During the second round of a series of matches between teams from the Medical College, Arts, Engineering and Science, the teams will be played on Wednesday afternoon, commencing at 4.00 p.m.

Two halves of approximately 25 minutes will be played. Anyone interested will be able to play in the teams for their faculty and there is no reason for people of other faculties to hold back, as this is a good opportunity for a friendly down-to-earth game.

As this is the first "On Dit" for a month, I feel I will be doing the right thing by publishing a summary of results of all winter sports available, to give an overall picture of each team and each club's position. Next issue, however, the old system will be again in force, so keep controlling those reports.

Despite the game efforts of their ten classy black-clad combined, a combined Australian Universities team beat a New Zealand University 22 points to 17 in Sydney last night.

One of the highlights of the meet, and the best South Australian performance, was that of the South Australian in the pot's waiting.
