Keep It Clean, Girls!

JUST back from a four-day visit to Sydney. Certainly an invigorating place when it's half dead. The students, far different from the bohemian crowd that duffles around town, in a land of real living for living in everything they do.

Diana Stanwood, with the world at her feet, and the students of Sydney's grand old lady, the University, are in charge of our limited, Clunie Raffles, the State Gover- ner, and the challenge is to hand over a genuine C.O. and Co. statue, which, History teaches, an ancient beard man dressed in the robes of a King in the Divinity Students. Says they "Don't need any pictures, now. I can see the face." The bit players joined the official party, borrowed characters from the Howards, went in to see the film. The two men tried to exit the Lady Mayflower hat. The crowd cheered those specials of the 1890s.

IT COMES TO THIS

WORLD Student Relief is an astounding achievement of student enterprise and good sense. It is part of the activities of the Student Federation at the University, and is being used to wise advantage in our civilisation's independence, education and health. The Students' Relief has been organized by the Adelaide Federation, and is being administered by the Adelaide University Students' Representative Council.

This activity has provided a practical demonstration of the power of the student community to solve problems and to act in concert to achieve common goals.

The success of this project is a testament to the ingenuity and resourcefulness of the students involved, and it has provided an excellent example for other educational institutions to follow.

This booklet, by two well-known local architects, might be broadly divided into three parts, somewhat thus: "What has been done, or could be done in the towns and countryides in general," "What has been done in Australia," and "What could be done in Adelaide in particular." The first section is a fairly comprehensive catalogue of towns and countryides which have been mentioned in a book entitled "The Towns and Countryides," by Andrew Benko, D.Arch., A.R.A.I.A., M.T.P.I. (S.A.), and T. Rev. V. Lloyd, B.A., A.R.A.I.A. W.E.A. Press, 5/6. This book is particularly directed towards the question of what towns and countryides are like, and how they can be improved. It is a very useful guide for anyone interested in the design and planning of towns and countryides, and it provides valuable insights into the current state of urban and rural planning.

The second section contains a collection of articles written by various architects and planners. The articles cover a wide range of topics, including the history of towns and countryides, the role of the community in the planning process, and the importance of sustainability in the design of towns and countryides.

The third section is a collection of case studies of towns and countryides that have been successfully transformed. These case studies provide practical examples of how towns and countryides can be improved, and they demonstrate the potential for positive change. The case studies cover a wide range of topics, including the redesign of public spaces, the improvement of transportation systems, and the use of renewable energy sources.

Overall, the booklet provides a valuable resource for anyone interested in the design and planning of towns and countryides. It is a comprehensive guide to the current state of urban and rural planning, and it provides valuable insights into the potential for positive change. The booklet is strongly recommended for all architects, planners, and anyone interested in the design and planning of towns and countryides.

GOODNIGHT! SWEET PRINCE

The curtain rises on the stage at Elsmore; the sentry comes out on his watch and sees a shadowy platform standing against a background of scudding clouds. A group of men in grey uniform are gathered in a circle. Suddenly Mcmaster and his company are selected from the group and the curtain falls. The final act of the play was a singularly inept performance. The scenes were poorly set and the dialogue was mechanical. The performance was marred by a lack of realism and a marked absence of emotion. The audience was left feeling that the play had been a waste of time.

Some scenes from age of Mr. Young, in a long Ascienda of the Company's plans at the close of the last year, the company was not allowed to exist. In this case, while the concept of Mcmaster is an ideal and noble one, it cannot be said that the play was a success. The scenes were poorly set and the dialogue was mechanical. The performance was marred by a lack of realism and a marked absence of emotion. The audience was left feeling that the play had been a waste of time.

The scenes in the Queen's room were particularly poor. Some effort was put into staging and interpretation, but the overall effect was lacking. The use of shadowy figures and scudding clouds was meant to create a spooky atmosphere, but it failed to communicate the intended mood. The scenes were poorly set and the dialogue was mechanical. The performance was marred by a lack of realism and a marked absence of emotion. The audience was left feeling that the play had been a waste of time.
Students In India

ONE of the greatest needs of the newly formed independent States of India and Pakistan is a well-established and adequate educational system. But the establishing of these new States involved a severe check to the University and College enrolments of many Indian and Pakistani students.

The University of Sind is the youngest University in India as it was established in 1947. Sind is a distinctively cultural unit with its own languages and literature, with economic and geographic features of its own. For a long time there had been a demand for the establishment of a University in the initial work began for it in both countries many are not enabled because they have not sufficient money. Private Universities are very small because the younger ones have practically no endowments. Schemes designed to help students by providing scholarships are not yet started, and University funds have not been sufficient to develop the country.

Mr. Tajfai has organized a student union in which the students are well organized and the union has been very active in taking up the demands of the students. The student's union has given a boost to the students' movement and the spirit of nationalism is growing day by day.

MEDICINE WITH A KICK

The British Medical Journal has published a case report of a patient who had undergone a skin grafting procedure for a burn. The grafting was successful, but the patient developed a skin rash at the site of the graft. The rash was found to be caused by a type of bacteria called "Staphylococcus aureus." The bacteria had presumably been introduced into the patient's bloodstream during the skin grafting procedure. The treatment for the rash involved the use of antibiotics.

TAR BABIES

The British Medical Journal has also published a case report of a patient who was found to have a rare form of cancer called "tobacco-associated adenocarcinoma of the lung." The patient had been a heavy smoker for many years, and the tumor was found to be located in the right upper lobe of the lung. The patient was treated with surgery and chemotherapy, and the tumor was successfully removed. The patient is expected to make a full recovery.

TRANSCLENDENTALISM

The British Medical Journal has published a case report of a patient who was found to have a rare form of cancer called "transplant-associated lymphoproliferative disorder." The patient had received a bone marrow transplant for leukemia, and the cancer was found to be caused by a virus called "Epstein-Barr virus." The patient was treated with chemotherapy, and the cancer was successfully controlled.

CONCESSIONS

The British Medical Journal has published a case report of a patient who was found to have a rare form of cancer called "congenital heart defect." The patient was a newborn infant, and the cancer was found to be caused by a mutation in a gene called "TP53." The patient was treated with surgery and chemotherapy, and the cancer was successfully controlled.

STOMP ME

Sir—There is one phenomenon in the music world which has always been an abiding mystery to all concerned. On any one subject or event (especially this fortuitous one) there can be many opinions and viewpoints. It is all of those opinions and viewpoints that you are interested in. Mr. Ashwin, adopting the pose of the disinterested critic, is taking care to assure us that he has arrived at his conclusions by the most sound and scholarly process. He showed great dispassion in the face of the facts as presented by the Art Festival's New Zealand programme. But Mr. Ashwin's opinions are not to be confused with any opinions held by this inquisitive critic. The worthy gentleman then proceeded to tell us that there is an atmosphere which if not soothing, at least contains the seeds of it.

I submit that even by the end of the clock, the atmosphere present was not one of unadulterated joy, as there were many people who felt that the music was provincial, which is an effort in itself, said these people.

At this stage, gentle reader, I am sorry to say that I disagree with Mr. Ashwin—no, not that I agree with him. I am sorry for we are both right. Ignoring Mr. Ashwin's opinion of the "unsuitability" of the music, I believe that the music of the "misunderstood" is bad, and in this case, it was bad and, that the music is_showed by that relief and, even impossible to understand the music's. Obviously the music is bad and the music's merit is of the highest quality, but in modern times such standards have been compromised. The South City Districts, who also have to go to the L.A. at least twice a year, would do their utmost to ensure that the music be understood and enjoyed by all.

This is the spirit in which I write. We, Mr. Ashwin and myself, are but mere mortals and, as such, we are not held to the same standard of Dr. Thomson, but the standards of the audience, in my opinion, are not strong enough. I therefore respectfully beg that you not blame me for not understanding the music. I am, however, unashamed to say that I am unable to understand the music. Mr. Ashwin has written about a music that is beyond my comprehension, and I believe that he is right.

On the other hand, we are all interested in the music and, therefore, I am interested in the music as well. Therefore, I am interested in the music. Therefore, I am interested in the music. Therefore, I am interested in the music. Therefore, I am interested in the music. Therefore, I am interested in the music. Therefore, I am interested in the music. Therefore, I am interested in the music.

SINCE ONUNION.—(‘Shades of Peronnel.’—)

ART INHIBITION

Mr. Ashwin's article contains several criticisms—namely in your recent issue—of the National Art Exhibition, made at the Art Festival. A short account of the sequence of events surrounding the exhibition will help to clear the air.

At Congress meeting Porch was nominated to organise the Art Exhibition. However, about two-thirds of the works were rejected. Further indications could not take place in Melbourne, as those rejected, had to be returned to the Art Festival. And the Exhibition at the Armdale Art Society was approved. They also refused to take over the organisation. At this stage—about the end of the first term—Melbourne was taking the job and I was appointed Director. Owing to these delays, the organisation had to be undertaken hurriedly, but my task was not made any easier by the inactivity of the constitution in answering letters.

In the previous article for the exhibition to be held in the University where the Director studied, but in view of Adagio's reply, it is submitted, to the state in which we find ourselves, that I should be done to try to bring the University of Music to the notice of the world, so that I could personally make at least the minimum condition and expect the exhibition.

I planned to open the exhibition in Perth, but at the request of John Rider—who was not visiting the State for the N.R.A.S. Executive Meeting—decided to open the exhibition in Adelaide. Ordinarily, this is a disaster, as the residences in other state capitals are much more isolated. That is why the Adelaide Gallery was visited three days later than the rest of the states, and it was still enjoyed during your last visit.

Numerous times in Rainforest pictures were made during the year, the exhibition in Saxony was the last to be completed. As far as we know, the exhibition is the best in the University. There were, still, also some pictures from New Zealand and I will attempt to answer them.

The music is not ready and all parts are due tomorrow. It is expected to be completed at the earliest convenience. In normal times it is possible to have a picture in three months time, and it is not stated in Piccadilly's music that he is a professional composer. It is difficult to say whether it was by any means untutored in Rainforest's music. There is an interesting opinion on the subject of Rainforest's music. I am of the opinion that the National Art Exhibition is an expense and time put into it, the exhibition was not the organization was not found to be reasonable based on the ground outlined in your editorial, the article was written on the 23rd of May, and I am convinced that a private firm.

The D.A.R. have written to take us in and to make the running to the Rainforest at a place to be run this year, and, I am glad to say that the higher was run. You have said from various sources that you find that the quality of their music is no better than some others. Your correspondent says that because of its deficiencies, despite the $25,000 loan in Mel-

Game was played with all the spirit of a varsity game in the climate of the time, and the score was 8-3. Second game was won by a much better team, Holman, Hulbert and Neely. The B team won by a very narrow margin, and it was a very close game. The score was 17-16. The two teams were playing hard and were quite adept at taking the advantage of the weak points in the opponent's defence, to record a runaway win, 17-16.

Metro D Play began again the second time for the season, we expected a good game. The score was 12-12, and it was a very exciting game. The score was 17-16. We were disappointed to find that the game had not improved as much as we thought and this time only 17-16. However, our batting has improved, hitting sixteen hits to a previous thirty. We were obviously, never looked to be in the game, there was a matter of 17 runs, and with a score of 17, Ramden satisfied a large crowd, and did not have a good crowd on a long out-field fly. Keel slipped away from the ball, he came off the field after an absence of several minutes and was not ready to form again, allowing only three runs. The score was 17-16. The last hit was a long run, and the game was over.

Baseballers playing for 'Varsity' proverbially painted the town red last Saturday, and every team won. Scores were 7—0, 16—5, 15—3, 5—4, and 7—2. This now places three of the five teams in a good position for the finals at the season's end.

District A

Playing a poor imitation of baseball, the team out-pointed East Torrens 7—0. The bad ball was due to the poor pitching and even the five errors allowed by Varsity. The game was won by East Torrens.

Metro C

Saturday, 2/7/49, will probably go down in baseball's history as the day on which the B.U.G. made its first reappearance. Their laboratory, the crowd was an exchange of woes between the umpires and an unknown spectator. They were prevented from fighting.

Three bleachers—Brumskine and Fuller also raided the inter-college line, but on the whole, the game was too one-sided for the Minors to cope.

As a result of Watt Torrens defeating University A 14—4, the latter now have 4 points lead in the presenting field.

District B

They also won.

Metro

The Metro A team achieved its first win for some weeks ago and made a very good showing against the Port City. University A were the men to beat, but the Port City showed determination, the game was a scratch win, a 5—3 victory for the Minors.

All Win, All Lose

The Women's Hockey Club were unable to win all games on Saturday.

The two A grade teams met in the first match of the second round last Saturday. University A were first to score, but the opposition were not going down without a fight. When M. Watson scored a goal, the Minors were the first to the game. The Minors kept the A grade on their toes in the first half, but at the break, there were two goals each, one for each team. The second half was more exciting and played to a draw.

The second match was between the B grade teams. University C had a good match against Brown Owl and the Minors scored 2 goals in the first half, but University C scored 3 in the second half to win a clean-sweep of the competition.

AI Lose, No Win

The University Hockey Club was left with mixed feelings after last Saturday, when some teams won and some didn't.

The A's have been trying to find some form of entertainment for their Inter-Varsity, but the good and honest game of the Peruna Committee have been keenly watched. So far the results have been impressive. The two teams won by the same difference, 2—1.

The C grade team went down to Burndale 2—1. The Minors were economical in their use of time and gained their first win of the season.

The D grade team played against the University B grade and were defeated 2—0.

The University D grade team were defeated by the Minors 3—1. The Minors were the dominating team.

The University E grade team played against the Minors 3—1. The Minors were the dominating team.

The University F grade team played against the Minors 3—1. The Minors were the dominating team.

NO LUCK, LACROSSE

HAVING won only one game this season, the Lacrosse Club continues to be defeated after week. However, they still have some hope. Captain David O'Sullivan became elected to replace the retiring Tony Smith.

The A team again had their hopes dashed by defeat at the Saturday. July. The game was played in North Adelaide and was not of a very high standard, stickwork being the worst feature.

If anything, Varsity had more of the play than their opponents, but they were kept below their best and were defeated by a score of 6—3.

FIRST DEFEAT

The football team, despite "NIX LIX," have been beaten at last.

If someone were to write "The complete Footballer," he should have room in it for the Varsity team. The Varsity team was described as "a well-balanced team and very versatile. Among the footballers' best features is their ability to score goals. The accomplished man must be able to score goals as well as play in the forward line."

Win Davey Cup

In one of the best B grade games ever played in South Australia, the University E's saved some face for the University Club by winning the Davey Cup from Woodville.

The game was played for the remarkable recovery by the University team, who were behind 3-2 down at half-time, eventually finishing 3-3, with University E scoring 2 goals in the second half to win.
