THE WOMEN'S WEEKLY MALE

with which is incorporated "On Dit" and the mortal remains of Brian Frederick Beggins

Vol. 26, No. 7 July 8, 1953. Threepence

THREE NAKED WOMEN RUN AMOK IN BARR-SMITH

We wonder whether, but for that headline, you dirty-minded crowd would ever have bothered to look further into this paper, which is allegedly the only organ of undergraduate opinion in this University. What a shame it is that we find it necessary to descend to the level of a certain Adelaide publication to stir you worse than senseless things into something which has a vague resemblance to life. Are we being rude? Too Pygmalion right we are! Are we going to apologise? No! friggin' likely!

In other words, you half-baked apology for mental deficiencies the editors of "On Dit" have had you. We reiterate that this next edition of "On Dit" will be brought out by a new set of editors so we are having one final fling.

For six months now "On Dit" has not edited through the hard labours of the editors and the bonhomie of Miss Micklem, for six months now the same hand has added the contributors have done their best to keep "On Dit" ahead above water. The saturation point has now been reached. Unless there is a considerable awakening of interest among the students to look the "On Dit" section of the University Daily, this will be damn to the lot of you.

We need staff. We need staff. We need staff. We need staff. We need staff.

We need response from contributors. We need above all moral support. We cannot go on as we are with the entire lack of any interest that you are showing. Beyond a mark that means the end. Of course we have had our say out. But we don't expect any results. We're giving up except any results.

The editors, weighed down, as they are with the technical problems connected with the publication of "On Dit", have the time to come running after you corpses. It's up to you to offer us your support. Well, we have the life that you have had our say out. But we don't expect any results. We're giving up except any results. Should anybody wish to be back at us, we can contact us in the saloon bar of the Richmond, drowning our sorrows.

SCOTT, STOKES, GIBBS TO BE SENT DOWN

In the interests of the movement now afoot to obtain greater student representation on the Union Council, "On Dit" requests the President of the Students' Representative Council of the University of Western Australia an outline of the position with regard to student government in both those Universities.

Mr. Dimond of Melbourne, and Mr. Hawke of Perth, respected immediately for their full information on the goings-in in their own University, so we now pass on to you a further incentive to the point about this vital problem, the fruits of their labor.

Of student government in the University of Melbourne, Mr. Dimond writes:

1. I should point out that the Union is controlled by a Board of Management consisting of the following members:

- The vice-Chancellor's nominee.
- Graduate Representative
- 1 Representative from the Student Representative Council
- 2 from the Staff Association
- 2 from the Students' Representative Council
- 3 Student bodies (of which students' body of the University and the University of Western Australia are the only bodies in the University which have a unique body in Australian student life, Mr. Bob Hawke, President of the University of Western Australia has written:

"In substance, the structure of student government within the Guild of Undergraduates of Australia, University of Western Australia, is a unique body in Australian student life, Mr. Bob Hawke, President".

As regards the general position of student government in the University, the students have two representatives on both the University Council and the Student Council. The representatives are full members of the University Council, elected by the students, and have a separate S.R.C. fee which they are entitled to retain. The number of students is limited to a maximum of five.

The Union does, however, give a vote to our representation in clubs and societies, this being the only body in the University with a vote in the Union voting.

I feel strongly that the S.R.C. should not be deprived of their representation in the Union. If the students do not wish to elect representatives to the Union, the S.R.C. is not the body which should be deprived of their representation in the Union. The S.R.C. should be entitled to a vote in the Union, and this vote should be exercised by the students.

It is hoped that this will satisfy the students, and that the Union will be able to proceed with its work.

Warden of the Union.

You write us this week from this that the students have a majority. I think that's a fine thing to say. Unfortunately, this year we have not been forced to use this majority owing to the fact that we have received your much support from the student body. It is to be noted that the students' body are very much interested in the work of the student body. They are very much interested in the work of the student body. They are very much interested in the work of the student body.

And I am sure that the students will continue to support the student body and help us in our efforts to make the student body work.

The University as it is —

The University as it is —

When interviewed by our Theatrical Roundsman, Shakespeare's only comment on the recent film version of his "Macbeth" was "Whoreson Welles!"
Mr. McCUBBIN MASTICATED BY LIONS

This is the second instalment of our effort to promote, somehow or other, a full, sustained and interactive corporate life within the University. In the last edition, we stated that our aim was greater student representation on the Union Council, and frankly outlined our plan of action. We expressed our sincerity and determination to reasonable, which expression has borne fruit.

We have already received several encouraging letters from responsible student men, and have been approached by several executive members of various organizations which would be concerned with any reorganization of the Union Council. All this has made us increasingly aware of several facts.

First, and most reassuring, is the knowledge that we are not without support at our venture, and that our genuine appeal for co-operation has received already a genuine answer. Secondly, no one has yet decided on a plan which will result in the generation of student interest and activity. Although we have started a student representation on the Union Council, what shall be our goal? Our one and only aim is to establish conditions under which we can achieve some reasonable goal, and continuous life, other than that which the syllabus sets. But deeper understanding and discussion may well reveal that a controlled plan cannot fulfill its purpose; if not, we shall have to look further, but CHANGE THERE MUST BE.

Why necessarily change? Because, the University of Adelaide has never been able to boast a proper University life. It may be argued that this is not due to a lack of opportunity, but...

STOKES NAMED AS CO-RE

Rehearsals for the 1952 Women’s Union Revue “Wench Without Fears” began last week. Rehearsals will extend through the First Years, gayer and livelier than the old bands, comprise many more students. Apart from the chorus girls there are also notable playwrights, writers, scriptwriters and people appearing as costumed by readings.\n
The composition of the catchy songs is a popular activity, and out of the jingoism and here’s hoping the University students will again be able to add their own re-

DRUG ADDICTS’ CORNER

The inaugural meeting of the Adelaide University Ski Club was held on July 1. It was decided that a party of novices would go to Mt. Buller for the 2nd term vacation. Training for those taking part in Intervarsity takes place at the Church of the Virgin, 117 Kermode Street.

ATTENTION!

Those who wrote, dined, and wench at the Arts Association Banquet last year.

Have you paid your 5/- donation which will help to cover the bills hanging over Ashwin’s head?

Have you even paid your original 12/6?

Please do so to S.R.C. Office

R.F.B.

C.R. Ashwin

THE SEX LIFE OF Socrates

I feel that this edition is going to cast into people’s minds grave doubts as to my sanity. Or, as it has just been suggested to me, increase their conviction as to my insanity. It is, no doubt, a breach of journalistic ethics to defend, in an editorial, my own mental health, but I feel that as the rest of this edition is in itself so unhealthy that one more breach will do little harm.

I will explain. I have just returned from a conference on the subject of the Sex Life of Socrates, held at my own University. It is my belief that the ancient philosophers had a much healthier view of human nature than we do today.

The conference was organized by a group of students who are interested in the subject. The speakers included some of the leading experts in the field, including some from other universities.

The opening address was given by Professor Smith, who stated that the ancient philosophers had a much more realistic view of human sexuality than we do today. He cited several examples from the works of Plato and Aristotle to support his argument.

The main speaker was Dr. Brown, who gave a detailed account of the sex life of Socrates. He stated that Socrates had several lovers, and that he was not afraid to express his desires openly.

The discussion that followed was lively, and many of the students made interesting contributions. One student, who was a member of the conference organizing committee, said that the conference had been a great success. He stated that he had learned a lot from the speakers and that he had come away with a new perspective on the Sex Life of Socrates.

The conference was concluded with a panel discussion, which was attended by all the speakers. The panelists included Professor Smith, Dr. Brown, and several other experts in the field.

The proceedings of the conference will be published in a special issue of the University’s journal, which will be available to the public shortly.

The Sex Life of Socrates is a fascinating subject, and I encourage all students to read up on it. It is a subject that has been neglected by many, and it is time that we gave it the attention it deserves.

R.F.B.

NOEL LINDSLOM and BRIAN BERGIN

GLEANINGS OF GLUC

ABOUT the only thing the “Mission” seems to have proved is that Christianity isn’t the only religion after all.

THE Immaterialists resent three new members and six abusive but anonymous letters.

A STUDENT has been suspended from lectures at University College, London, after preparing a mixture of licorice and formaldehyde for Dr. A. L. Colle to drink during a lecture.

MELBOURNE C.R.C. rep. at the Berwick Film Festival, asks for more general meetings.

We wanted to tell East European students something of our way of life, and find out about theirs. However, we found it very difficult to get any information when the whole orientation of the East was towards gathering prophecies for Communist organizations.

“Questions which did not fit Communist ends were discouraged. Interviews with all non-Communist's solicited from the West were either distorted to fit with the official line or were not published.”

BERRI Uni. dances have been invaded by bogeys and witches.

However, the Warden hasn’t seen any at his famous Nights (every Friday at 9 p.m. Lady Symon) although a couple of Immaterialists sneaked in last week.

DURING the summer vacation the British National Union Students will hold special festivals across the Atlantic for students. Return fare is 290.

A PROFESSORSHIP of Social Theory has been established at Cambridge for a trial period of two years.

CAMBRIDGE University Film Society is filming de Marsaud’s “Deux Amis” as a twenty-minute short. Last year the “Parfum” sale was produced.

HARVARD University student magazine “Grapevine” has presented Robert Taylor with an Oscar for his part in the film “Duel in the Sun”.

STUDENTS of Glasgow University taking pharmacy have been comparing their own and their parents’ heights. They have found that slightly more than two-thirds of the women students are taller than their mothers, and just under three-quarters of the men are smaller than their fathers.

MEETINGS of the Oxford Hospital and Hertfordian Societies have been called to a halt on sexual immorality. An “Anti-Sex” is also to be arranged at which home-made bombs will be permitted.

RED HEN CAFE

(Opposite Richmond Hotel ... Richmond Arcade)

COFFEE LOUNGE AND GRILL ROOM

Open 8.30 a.m. to 7.15 p.m. Every Day

Convenient for Students. Service and Civility Our Motto.
"MISS EGGS" REVEALS BIG TRAFFIC
IN "BLACK" COFFEE

At the last meeting of the S.R.C., the report of the U.S. Council Meeting, held at Warsaw in September, 1951, was presented by the observer for the Adelaide S.R.C., Mr. Peter Halley, who gave his impressions of his overseas tour and the general meeting of students recently attended. In his report Mr. Halley gives a general covering of the U.S. Council meeting. We published the report here under the complete understanding that you may be vaguely interested, you clods.

After receiving a letter asking me to go to Warsaw in Poland to be an official observer for the Adelaide S.R.C., I left Berlin, where I had participated in the "World Festival of Youth and Students for Peace" (as a private individual), by train for Warsaw. The Liverpool Express 3:25 a.m. from Berlin, arrived in Warsaw at 9.25 a.m., September 1, 1951, and was welcomed by the Polish Youth Organization, "M.P.T." which, unfortunately, did not provide comfortable accommodation in the "Hotel Bristol." This report is more of a personal account of my own experiences and observations at the U.S. Council Meeting than a comprehensive report. A comprehensive report was prepared by writing to the Secretary of the N.U.A.U.S. and asking for the official report of Mr. Woods Lloyd which I thereby confirm because I consider his report to be a fair and correct account of the proceedings. Also I include a collection of some of the documents issued by the U.S.C. and copies of some of the speeches made at the Council.

Description of the Delegates

The Australian delegation consisted of Mr. Woods Lloyd, observer for the N.U.A.U.S., Mr. Frank Townsend, private student observer from Melbourne; Mr. Martin Marx, and Helen Gosta. It is thing that's how she spells it, who were delegates for the "Australian Students' Labor Club Federation," and myself.

The British delegation, led admirably by Mr. Thompson, was composed of the official representatives of the N.U.A.U.S., which is a member of the I.U.S.C. Mr. Thompson spoke very well, in my opinion, and made a diligent and sincere attempt to put the British point of view at the meeting.

The American delegation, in my opinion, only represented that section of the American students who favored a "Socialist Policy." They are very well, and the report of their wide-travelled and wide-experienced delegates, was analyzed by their countrymen fighting in the Pacific war.

I thought that the delegations of South Africa, Canada, Australia, and New Zealand were amongst the delegations who represented their respective countries in a fair manner.

The German delegations from East and West Germany supported the general attitude of the delegations from the socialist countries, and the American delegations, often in the form of a "black robe" when issuing pronouncements.

Nearly all the delegations from the Colonial countries and the "dependent countries" and the South American countries strongly criticized the capitalist economic system in which they claimed that the interests of British and American capital were often put in the main interest of the people in those countries. These countries made great boasts about their alleged "socialist" achievements, and in the end we realized that you had to depend on the "black market" to buy anything at all.

The delegation from East Germany was invited to a great banquet given in our honor by the Minister of Education. It was the most extravagant feast we have ever been to. About 100 guests were present, and the food was prepared with care. The tables were laden with food, and the atmosphere was electric. The speeches of the East German delegates were captivating and educational.

Towards the end of the week, we were invited to the "Black Market Festival," where we were offered a great variety of foods, including rainbow cakes and chocolate. The event was a great success, and we enjoyed the food and the atmosphere.

If you have never attended a "Warden's Night," you don't realize what you have missed. To say that they consist of rousing good cheer is an understatement. The event is a complete night of fun and excitement. You have the chance to meet new people, dance, sing, and enjoy the company of others. It's a great way to unwind after a long week of classes and work.

S.R.C. Bomb Plot Revealed in Time

Hurray for Drama Festival! (See last issue "On Dit") and what were we going to do about it? We thought up and sent two perfectly good suggestions for a Drama Festival Play to be approved and performed by the University of Melbourne Drama Festival. Mr. John Sumner, Esq., Mr. Sumner, Esq., graciously rejected them both—Pristel's "An Inspector Calls," and Shaw's "The Philanderer"—unhappy choice on our part, because Shaw in some other form was already under production over there.

With great hospitality, he accepted Mr. Van Alen's offer to direct the play that play. Mr. Van Alen, being in Melbourne, went to see Mr. Sumner about it. Together they persuaded numerous plays, and finally emerged with a list of six. At last Mr. Sumner condescended to reply by ordinary mail—be extra "The Circle," by Brecht. Now, my dear Mr. Sumner, you have made a fine play. We think it will be a great success, and we are looking forward to seeing it at the Drama Festival in Melbourne.

In conclusion, we would like to say that we are pleased with the results of our suggestions. We are grateful for the opportunity to contribute to the Drama Festival, and we look forward to seeing the final product. We are excited about the possibilities of the festival and the potential for growth in the University's dramatic arts.

VXYZK!

The shooting and tumultuous activities that have been reported in the last few weeks have died down, but there are still murmurs and mutterings in the halls and corridors. Mr. MacDonald, it seems, has had his share of challenges. However, he remains unfazed, and continues to operate with efficiency and precision.

The University? Well, we'll see. It's been a rollercoaster ride, and we're eager to see what the future holds. We are looking forward to exploring new opportunities and challenges. It's an exciting time to be a student at this university.
The Philosopher's Page

THE FICTION OF A NATURAL LAW

by Nicholas Birkett

I am like the young men who look startled when asked if they thought there was a Natural Law—for I am not startled. And the reason why I am not startled is because illogical conceptions, such as a Natural Law, are no more a part of some man's mind than one becomes more or less immune to them after a while, and ceases to be startled by them.

Although I am not startled, nevertheless, I don't wonder! I wonder why it is that inanimate objects allow themselves to be influenced by theories which are comforting, and yet riddled with fallacies and glossed over by sweet words that make pleasant music to the deceptive mind of man.

I would first like to show why I consider that the mind of the man who thinks of religion, as if it were a Natural Law, must return to religion, for this whole concept of a Natural Law is bound up with religion. If we are to think of religion as a Natural Law, we are in danger of being led astray.

We must beware of thinking of religion as a Natural Law, for it is a dangerous delusion. If we think of religion as a Natural Law, we are in danger of being led astray.

I would first like to show why I consider that the mind of the man who thinks of religion, as if it were a Natural Law, must return to religion, for this whole concept of a Natural Law is bound up with religion. If we are to think of religion as a Natural Law, we are in danger of being led astray.

We must beware of thinking of religion as a Natural Law, for it is a dangerous delusion. If we think of religion as a Natural Law, we are in danger of being led astray.

I would first like to show why I consider that the mind of the man who thinks of religion, as if it were a Natural Law, must return to religion, for this whole concept of a Natural Law is bound up with religion. If we are to think of religion as a Natural Law, we are in danger of being led astray.

We must beware of thinking of religion as a Natural Law, for it is a dangerous delusion. If we think of religion as a Natural Law, we are in danger of being led astray.

I would first like to show why I consider that the mind of the man who thinks of religion, as if it were a Natural Law, must return to religion, for this whole concept of a Natural Law is bound up with religion. If we are to think of religion as a Natural Law, we are in danger of being led astray.

We must beware of thinking of religion as a Natural Law, for it is a dangerous delusion. If we think of religion as a Natural Law, we are in danger of being led astray.

I would first like to show why I consider that the mind of the man who thinks of religion, as if it were a Natural Law, must return to religion, for this whole concept of a Natural Law is bound up with religion. If we are to think of religion as a Natural Law, we are in danger of being led astray.

We must beware of thinking of religion as a Natural Law, for it is a dangerous delusion. If we think of religion as a Natural Law, we are in danger of being led astray.

I would first like to show why I consider that the mind of the man who thinks of religion, as if it were a Natural Law, must return to religion, for this whole concept of a Natural Law is bound up with religion. If we are to think of religion as a Natural Law, we are in danger of being led astray.

We must beware of thinking of religion as a Natural Law, for it is a dangerous delusion. If we think of religion as a Natural Law, we are in danger of being led astray.

I would first like to show why I consider that the mind of the man who thinks of religion, as if it were a Natural Law, must return to religion, for this whole concept of a Natural Law is bound up with religion. If we are to think of religion as a Natural Law, we are in danger of being led astray.

We must beware of thinking of religion as a Natural Law, for it is a dangerous delusion. If we think of religion as a Natural Law, we are in danger of being led astray.

I would first like to show why I consider that the mind of the man who thinks of religion, as if it were a Natural Law, must return to religion, for this whole concept of a Natural Law is bound up with religion. If we are to think of religion as a Natural Law, we are in danger of being led astray.

We must beware of thinking of religion as a Natural Law, for it is a dangerous delusion. If we think of religion as a Natural Law, we are in danger of being led astray.

I would first like to show why I consider that the mind of the man who thinks of religion, as if it were a Natural Law, must return to religion, for this whole concept of a Natural Law is bound up with religion. If we are to think of religion as a Natural Law, we are in danger of being led astray.

We must beware of thinking of religion as a Natural Law, for it is a dangerous delusion. If we think of religion as a Natural Law, we are in danger of being led astray.

I would first like to show why I consider that the mind of the man who thinks of religion, as if it were a Natural Law, must return to religion, for this whole concept of a Natural Law is bound up with religion. If we are to think of religion as a Natural Law, we are in danger of being led astray.

We must beware of thinking of religion as a Natural Law, for it is a dangerous delusion. If we think of religion as a Natural Law, we are in danger of being led astray.

I would first like to show why I consider that the mind of the man who thinks of religion, as if it were a Natural Law, must return to religion, for this whole concept of a Natural Law is bound up with religion. If we are to think of religion as a Natural Law, we are in danger of being led astray.

We must beware of thinking of religion as a Natural Law, for it is a dangerous delusion. If we think of religion as a Natural Law, we are in danger of being led astray.

I would first like to show why I consider that the mind of the man who thinks of religion, as if it were a Natural Law, must return to religion, for this whole concept of a Natural Law is bound up with religion. If we are to think of religion as a Natural Law, we are in danger of being led astray.

We must beware of thinking of religion as a Natural Law, for it is a dangerous delusion. If we think of religion as a Natural Law, we are in danger of being led astray.

I would first like to show why I consider that the mind of the man who thinks of religion, as if it were a Natural Law, must return to religion, for this whole concept of a Natural Law is bound up with religion. If we are to think of religion as a Natural Law, we are in danger of being led astray.

We must beware of thinking of religion as a Natural Law, for it is a dangerous delusion. If we think of religion as a Natural Law, we are in danger of being led astray.

I would first like to show why I consider that the mind of the man who thinks of religion, as if it were a Natural Law, must return to religion, for this whole concept of a Natural Law is bound up with religion. If we are to think of religion as a Natural Law, we are in danger of being led astray.

We must beware of thinking of religion as a Natural Law, for it is a dangerous delusion. If we think of religion as a Natural Law, we are in danger of being led astray.
VIVEAT AUSSIE RULES!

It was a marvellous inter-Varsity Carnival, but it could not have been so marvellous that the University A team has played like 1956 since then. It is four weeks since the inter-Varsity games, but only the other has the habit of the "go in and get it" spirit that was so present.

Against Woodville (45th), the A's won by 5 points, but for the rest of the competition, the A's were soundly beaten. The total score was 26 all for the A side and 10 all for Woodville. This was the third game in a row that the A's have been inferior to Woodville, but they are still confident of a win over the B's.

In the final game of the competition, the A's played against the B's in front of a large crowd. The B's were victorious by 3 points, but the A's played well and showed some improve ment in their game. The final score was 21 all for the B's and 18 all for the A's. The A's were still confident of a win over the B's in the next match.

The A's have won their first two matches and are currently in fourth place in the competition. They are determined to finish the season on a high note and are confident of achieving their goal.

The next match of the competition is against the C's on the 27th of April. The A's are determined to win this match and are confident of achieving their goal.

The A's are currently the only team in the competition that has not been defeated by Woodville. They are determined to continue their winning streak and are confident of achieving their goal.

The A's have been playing well in all their matches and are confident of achieving their goal.

The next match of the competition is against the D's on the 28th of April. The A's are determined to win this match and are confident of achieving their goal.

The A's have been playing well in all their matches and are confident of achieving their goal.

The next match of the competition is against the E's on the 29th of April. The A's are determined to win this match and are confident of achieving their goal.

The A's have been playing well in all their matches and are confident of achieving their goal.

The next match of the competition is against the F's on the 30th of April. The A's are determined to win this match and are confident of achieving their goal.

The A's have been playing well in all their matches and are confident of achieving their goal.

The next match of the competition is against the G's on the 3rd of May. The A's are determined to win this match and are confident of achieving their goal.

The A's have been playing well in all their matches and are confident of achieving their goal.

The next match of the competition is against the H's on the 4th of May. The A's are determined to win this match and are confident of achieving their goal.

The A's have been playing well in all their matches and are confident of achieving their goal.

The next match of the competition is against the I's on the 5th of May. The A's are determined to win this match and are confident of achieving their goal.

The A's have been playing well in all their matches and are confident of achieving their goal.
Editors To The Letter

LETTER ONE

- A Ashley Young

Sir—As an adult student at the University of Virginia, I am reminded of the fact that the leading role will be the greatest challenge in the coming year. The training of the theological scholars and the preparation of the men of God will be the major task, and the seeking of a suitable successor is a task that must be undertaken with the utmost care.

 Yours sincerely,

- A. ASHLEY YOUNG.

LETTER TWO

Dear Sir,

Along with the S.C.S. and the Union, I have been considering the possibility of forming a branch of the Students' Christian Movement. I believe that such a branch would greatly benefit the university community, and I am writing to express my support for the idea.

Yours sincerely,

- A. ASHLEY YOUNG.

LETTER THREE

Dear Sir,

Is it not possible that the S.C.S. could be used as a means of bringing the students together and encouraging cooperation? The S.C.S. has always been a symbol of unity and cooperation, and I believe that it could be used to bring the students closer together.

Yours sincerely,

- A. ASHLEY YOUNG.

LETTER FOUR

Dear Sir,

I believe that the S.C.S. should be used as a means of bringing the students together and encouraging cooperation. The S.C.S. has always been a symbol of unity and cooperation, and I believe that it could be used to bring the students closer together.

Yours sincerely,

- A. ASHLEY YOUNG.

LETTER FIVE

Dear Sir,

I am writing to express my support for the idea of forming a branch of the Students' Christian Movement. I believe that such a branch would greatly benefit the university community, and I am writing to express my support for the idea.

Yours sincerely,

- A. ASHLEY YOUNG.
The Debate Continues

N.S.T. ISSUE NOT DEAD

Remember our article several issues ago on National Service Training? Remember the effect it created in private life, things had come to a pretty pass. Since then, the question posed in "On Duty" has been taken up in higher circles. On June 3 this year the following little drama was enacted in the Senate:

SENIOR MCLELLAN: To ask the Minister representing the Minister for Defence, if the Minister could:

(1) Will the Minister read the article in the Adelaide University "On Duty," p. 39, of April 23, 1962, dealing with the experience of Adelaide University students of National Service Training and the place of training?

(2) Will he convey to the Senate the suggestion that the military training undergone by these students during the period of their time at the University could have been efficiently done in half that time?

(3) Will he convey to the Senate the suggestion that the military training undergone by these students be the place of training?

ANSWER:

(1) The Minister has read the article referred to by the Honorable Senator.

(2) To produce a smooth transition from civilian to service life, and

(3) To produce soldiers basically trained for each Army

For the young man training as a soldier, the physical and mental development that it involves is not necessarily a vital necessity to society as a scientist, not an advocate.

The aim of the fourteen weeks full-time training is to train the soldiers in the Service Training Scheme, in the Commonwealth, and throughout the world. This Scheme consists of a selection of different Service Training Units, which can be done in half that time.

The principle of the fourteen weeks full-time training is to train the soldiers in the Service Training Scheme, in the Commonwealth, and throughout the world. This Scheme consists of a selection of different Service Training Units, which can be done in half that time.

Moreover, Christianity can rise to this view of the world. Christianity can rise to this view of the world. Christianity can rise to this view of the world. Christianity can rise to this view of the world.
HEAD IT! CHUM

The annual interstate contest had been fixed for the first week of the May vacation. It was thus that the elders of the Soccer Club called hastily to consider this grave emergency. Preparation for this was swift and meticulous. The old, the unfit, and the weak had to be ruthlessly weeded from the team.

Relaxing the standard of requisite perfection sufficient to allow eleven men to be admitted, to meet their ends to plans from the old boys that a higher grade of oil would bring back speed to their legs, and that a change of diet would press on with a spurt system of training. Commandos were formed at the order of the day. Over the Toora, swung the early morning mist could be seen the boys on the road. In the morning mist the teeth had to be determined over, and the strength of the medical students scrutinized before they were to be seen to be stoned and the nerves of the players.

Captain Samatha greeted each man with Harry's voice before Harford as a barbecue, and Carruthers added a word of encouragement. The mode of entry into the city was by invitation only, and no other than the invited party could possibly obtain admission. The high-road, and the other one, by rail and another one, by boat to save time, meeting at the terminus of the railway station.

All went well with Samatha's party until five miles from Geelong, a new track for that time of the year, covered the road. It was rumoured that it was from the town of the witnesses in the Limerick Royal Commission. Camperdown was visited, and Samatha, skidded his craft through by allowing the lead to bring our dead. We were there until five miles from Geelong, the boys regrouped in Martin's Hotel, and order was restored to the Association for its financial health. And so, we march, until next time, we will have our own track and Camperdown.

Basketball Blots

The A's pre-Inter-Varsity unbeaten record has suffered since the time of the two losses in the top team. The 1-1 team went under to West (the top team) 33-31 after leading narrowly throughout. It was a grueling game played at our weakest hour. Our boys played magnificently in defence to support a very lovely Lee in attack. Jim Allard and a new player of promise—psilon joined the A's against Glenelg. Jim, injured, back, and Jack, out of the service, were unavailable. We won 33-31. The long shooting match of one of our points was scored from a penalty after the bell.

Last week a well-trained team brought Thompson back to stimulus late the 10-line, and John W. Renner another newcomer, in the forward brigade. North were victorious. 1st-2. The 2nd-3, Fung and Thirpwell, played excellent ball, the latter throwing twelve points. Lloyd Evans has earned his record for the season on 113 points and therefore has a formidable lead.

We are pleased to see Jim at practice again, and hope he has his playing soon. The A's have suffered from the loss of their stars and the fact that we are without a match. Maylands defeated us, 26-22, though at one stage we led 11-0. A change in tactics is believed the reason for the defeat.

GOLFMING GAMBLER

The Australian Inter-Varsity Golf Tournament was held at the Royal Melbourne links, from June 2 to 8. The State matches and the individual 15-hole stroke championship provided some very interesting golf, in some of Melbourne's worst weather. The ultimate result of the matches was a rather comfortable win for Melbourne, who, it is claimed by the Adelaide team, held a distinct advantage due to their familiarity with their own golf courses.

On the Tuesday, a large field of about 50 players contested the championship. Two separate 15-hole stroke playfor the best player of each State were played concurrently. From the brilliant rounds of 71 and 72 submitted by 15th-day player Burt (M+S), with two cards of 77 and 81, on the 18th to 19th, a score of 71 to 72 was the best. By M. B. Widden of the British team was the best of the day, 72 to 72.

On the Wednesday, we gained the sympathy of our players, gaining the championship of Melbourne, and winning the State championship. On the Thursday, we found ourselves in the position of the leaders, and Tony Forsyth winning his singles match for the State championship, and our team was assured of being the best. On the following day, the match was played at Kingwood, and the last match was a very close game. Our team thought the match might be a little easier.

The match was held at the Royal Golf Club, which was excellent. A event of the tournament was the presentation of the trophy by C. W. Hall and C. W. Hall, and C. W. Hall, of the Tasmania Golf Club, to the last match was played at the Royal Golf Club, which was excellent. A event of the tournament was the presentation of the trophy by the Australian manager, Mr. O. R. Forth, and the director of the tournament, Mr. W. A. D. Hall, of the Tasmania Golf Club, to the tournament. The presentation was made on the occasion of the tournament, and C. W. Hall, of the Tasmania Golf Club,

VIVAT RUGBY!

On July 25, the Adelaide University Social Rugby Club, in a match to farewell the 1951 Rhodes Scholar, Mr. Charles "Zugz" Ashwin, B.A. (1st class Hons.). The Rugby Club has an able record of the University's strength and its player, going through its ranks—Two Rhodes Scholars, two Cowgie Scholarships, one Rotary Scholarship to the U.S.A., and a Research Scholarship to France. Bill Bennett announced last week.

A member of the Football Club committee, and three "Zugz"s, was elected to the first "Zugz"s. We must thank Peter Martin and his men for their loyalty, and Tony Forsyth and his men for their support. The team is one of the most successful in the Inter-Club matches. The team is also a member of the University's Rugby Club, which is under the control of the Football Club, and is also a member of the Association for its financial health. And so, we march, until next time, we will have our own track and Camperdown.

Toby Reynolds has been well until returned to the pitch, and he has been playing very well, in the last match he has played. We are told that he has been playing very well, in the last match he has played. He is also a member of the University's Rugby Club, which is under the control of the Football Club, and is also a member of the Association for its financial health. And so, we march, until next time, we will have our own track and Camperdown.