Dear Sir,

I was just finishing reading "Forgotten Summer" On Dr. May 31 and was wondering whether it be a good idea that this is the sort of a paper that at the end of the season, that at the end of the season, that is cuts the amateur sport of writing under the influence of increasing the few is such a thing. I wish to avoid the "open letter" form at all costs, but as a result of the number of letters that are coming in, I am forced to accept this form.

Yours sincerely,

Ladies and Gentlemen,

The topic of mammology is one of the most fascinating and important areas of study in the field of medicine. The research conducted by Dr. James H. Johnson and his team at the University of California, Berkeley, has shed new light on the development and function of the female breast. Their groundbreaking work has led to significant advancements in the understanding of breast health and disease.

Your high-priced bishops against your opposition party. It is disgraceful, this area. Bordering on all sorts of political and economic weakness, and political unrest, the country should be able to feel that their children enjoy the same security and stability as their counterparts in the West. This is a situation that many people find very frustrating and annoying.

Dear Mr. Boos,

May I begin by correcting a few factual details in your letter? Firstly, you suggest that "a committee rather than one person, chooses poems for publication in "Barbados," this is not true. Last year, there was a panel of four editors, who read and judged all possible material for the magazine. However, I must say that the beauty of art is subjective, and many people may have different opinions. But I will not be successful without the support of the readers, or majority, or at least a large portion of the public. The absorptive affection of the public on Wednesday night to these pseudo-musicians show that the majority of them who believe that a revolution can occur in our society, is to not accept the idea of taking the revolution in the hands of people who do not have the capacity and resources to accept change. Many and many violence, and revolution (one can do) is something that is to be allowed in a democracy. The only real capitalistic business offices with re have not been recognized yet.

Dear Sir,

I was recently asked if I could be of any help in the task of compiling the list of all the poems that were not selected for publication in "Barbados." I must say that I could not ignore this request. In fact, I would like to share my own experience and knowledge with the community.

Dear Sir,

I am planning to conduct a survey on the attitudes of university students towards the arts. This will be done in collaboration with the university's student council. The survey will be anonymous and confidential.

problems were not always the same, it seemed. Not every situation was the same. Different people had different needs and desires. To understand the world, you had to look at it through their eyes. To truly know someone, you had to understand their perspective. Each person was unique, with their own story to tell. To communicate effectively, you had to be able to listen and respond accordingly. This was the key to success in life. It was the foundation of all relationships. To build strong connections, you had to be able to see the world from other people's perspectives. To be truly successful, you had to be able to adapt and adjust to the ever-changing landscape of life.

THE UNIVERSITY OF ADELAIDE RHODES SCHOLARSHIP

Seven for the Rhodes Scholarship for 1971 will close on September 1 and will be considered by the South Australian Rhodes Scholarship Selection Committee at Adelaide.

The annual value of the Scholarship is a grant of £420 per annum. Applications must be made by September 1, 1970.

This is a wonderful opportunity for anyone who is going to study at a university in England.

FREE LEGAL AID

If you need a legal aid, you might want to look into the services of a lawyer who specializes in providing legal aid to those who cannot afford to pay lawyers.

Unfortunately, the legal aid system is not perfect, but it is better than nothing at all.

The University of Adelaide has established a legal aid center which offers free legal advice to anyone who qualifies. The center is open Monday through Friday, 9 am to 5 pm.

In addition, some local law firms also offer free legal advice to those who cannot afford to pay.

This is a wonderful opportunity for anyone who needs legal help but cannot afford to pay for it.

Further they complain that the issues are not discussed in the mass media; only the events which occurred, this is true but irrelevant, for we should pay the vested interests to act in this way. A more appropriate way to view the relations between the public, government policy and the news media would be to encourage them to present differences in Australia (or America) if there had been any anti-war demonstrations. To use the official line of the government, the so-called anti-war protests would have been Enemy Blasts Viet Cit, a strong, long term possibility would have been to use the news media's influence to present one side of a conflict. The answer to this question leads straight to the Hansen and Wells statement in a capitalist society neither Vietnam, Cambodia, racial discrimination, poverty, education inequalities nor any other of a host of related problems are solvable; they are an essential part of maintaining the system as it stands. The conclusion from this realization is revolution.
