A VISIT TO THE PHILIPPINES.

RETURN OF PROFESSOR WATSON.

Professor Watson returned from his tour in the Far East last Monday, and is now in the Philippines. His tour was one of the most interesting and instructive in the history of the scientific work of the Philippines, and he has been much interested in the progress of the country. He left Manila on January 2 and arrived here last Sunday.

Government Scientific Work.

Professor Watson has been associated with the government scientific laboratories in the Philippines, and has been much interested in their work. He has been particularly interested in the progress of the agricultural and scientific work in the islands, and has been much impressed by the progress that has been made.

Religious and Race Questions.

Professor Watson has been much interested in the religious and race questions that have been under discussion in the Philippines. He has been particularly interested in the progress of the Catholic Church, and has been much impressed by the work that has been done in this direction.

Economic Research.

Professor Watson has been associated with the government economic laboratories in the Philippines, and has been much interested in their work. He has been particularly interested in the progress of the agricultural and economic work in the islands, and has been much impressed by the progress that has been made.

A Mata and a Marriage.

I left Sydney in the steamer Empress of Japan early last week, and arrived at Manila on Monday. While I was in Sydney, I was in the company of Mr. E. T. Mace, the wealthy Sydney merchant, who has been in the Philippines for some time, and has been much interested in the progress of the island.

American Rule in the Philippines.

The American rule in the Philippines is one of the most interesting and instructive in the history of the American republic. The island is a valuable possession, and the American government has been much interested in the progress of the island.

Military and Industrial Conditions.

Military and industrial conditions are taking place in the Philippines. The American government has been much interested in the progress of the island, and has been much impressed by the work that has been done.

Hundreds of thousands of dollars have been spent on the island, and the results have been very satisfactory. The American government has been much interested in the progress of the island, and has been much impressed by the work that has been done.

A friend of mine who visited the island recently, told me that he was much impressed by the progress that has been made.

In conclusion, I would say that the American government has been much interested in the progress of the island, and has been much impressed by the work that has been done.

EDUCATION.

The American rule in the Philippines is one of the most interesting and instructive in the history of the American republic. The island is a valuable possession, and the American government has been much interested in the progress of the island.

Important Laboratory Work.

You made some enquiries respecting the American rule in the Philippines, and you are doing splendid work. There is no question that the American rule is a beneficent one, and that it is doing much good.

In conclusion, I would say that the American rule in the Philippines is one of the most interesting and instructive in the history of the American republic. The island is a valuable possession, and the American government has been much interested in the progress of the island.

MUSIC IN EUROPE AND AUSTRALIA.

ADDRESS BY DR. ENNS.

Professor Enns, M.A., D.C.L., gave his inaugural address in the concert hall of the University of Melbourne last week.

Dr. Enns, in his address, said that he had been much impressed by the progress that had been made in the field of music in Europe and Australia. He said that the music of the two countries was very similar, and that there was much to be learned from each other.

In conclusion, I would say that the American rule in the Philippines is one of the most interesting and instructive in the history of the American republic. The island is a valuable possession, and the American government has been much interested in the progress of the island.

The Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, Dr. Enns, said that he had been much impressed by the progress that had been made in the field of music in Europe and Australia. He said that the music of the two countries was very similar, and that there was much to be learned from each other.

In conclusion, I would say that the American rule in the Philippines is one of the most interesting and instructive in the history of the American republic. The island is a valuable possession, and the American government has been much interested in the progress of the island.