

107
"7. As regards the true meaning of education, remember you are really framing a machine, not trying to produce certain results from its working. Hence training is the chief thing; the acquisition of facts is of very secondary importance."