AMUSEMENTS.

The Music Conservatoire.

The season at the Music Conservatoire under the direction of Mr. H. T. Dunning, was brought to a close on Thursday evening, when the intellectual and musical excitement which has been the feature of the season was finally ended. The evening opened with a selection of songs, which were sung with great effect by the Conservatoire choir and orchestra.

UNIVERSITY ENDOWMENT LANDS.

WHAT THE TRUSTEES HOLD.

Suits for the recovery of any lands held in trust by the University under the Endowment Act of 1864 are now in progress. In one case, the claim of the trustees is for the recovery of 50 acres of land, valued at £300. In another case, the claim is for 20 acres of land, valued at £150. In both cases, the trustees have the support of the University and the University Court.

The Endowment Act of 1864 enables the University to make grants of land for the benefit of the University and its students. The lands held in trust are to be sold for the benefit of the University, and the proceeds are to be used for the purposes of the University.

UNIVERSITY COUNCIL.

The University Council met on Tuesday evening, and was addressed by the Vice-Chancellor, who gave a brief account of the state of the University and of the progress of the various departments. He also handed down a report of the examination of the University, and the results of the examination were read out.

The examination was held in all the courses of study, and the results were satisfactory. The University received a large number of applications for admission to the various courses, and the Council was able to admit a large number of students.

UNIVERSITY COMMERCE, 18th Sept. 1868.

The Adelaide University recently opened its doors to a large number of students. The enrolments have exceeded all expectations, and the course is proving a great success. The University, which has been established for the purpose of teaching commerce, is already proving a valuable asset to the city.

ABERDEEN UNIVERSITY.

FOUR HUNDREDTH ANNIVERSARY.

LONDON, September 27.

The completion of the fourth century of useful and beneficial teaching at the University of Aberdeen is being celebrated in various ways throughout the country. Special dinners, lectures, and other events are being held to mark this important anniversary.

The University of Aberdeen was founded in 1495, and it is one of the oldest universities in the world. It has a long and distinguished history, and it has produced many famous scholars and scholars.

The University of Aberdeen is one of the leading universities in the world, and it is considered to be one of the best in Scotland. It is a national and international centre of learning, and it is proud of its long and illustrious history.