COMMERCIAL EDUCATION.

The Standart of Education.

Commerce as a vocation is receiving an increasingly large number of students in the United States, and this is because it is being realized that the knowledge of commerce is of great importance. This knowledge is necessary in many fields of life, and is especially important in business and industry.

The importance of commerce education is being realized in many countries, and efforts are being made to improve the standard of education in this field.

CONFERENCE OF TEACHERS.

The conference of the South Australian Public Service was held in Adelaide last week.

The proceedings were conducted by Professor H. W. Begg, who is the president of the school of Economics and Business.

Professor Begg declared that the conference was concerned with the future of the public service in South Australia.

The conference discussed the importance of commerce
education, and the need for better preparation of students for the public service.

The conference also discussed the need for a more systematic approach to the teaching of commerce, and the importance of practical experience in the field.

The conference concluded that the future of commerce
education in South Australia is bright, and that steps should be taken to ensure that students receive a comprehensive education in the field.

UNIVERSITY EXTENSION LECTURES.

The University of Adelaide has announced that a series of extension lectures will be given in the city of Adelaide, commencing next week.

The lectures will cover a wide range of subjects, including commerce, business administration, and economics.

The lectures will be given by leading experts in the field, and will be open to all who are interested.

The lectures will be held in the University of Adelaide's lecture hall, and will commence at 8:00 p.m. each evening.

The lectures will continue until the end of the month.

The University of Adelaide is to be congratulated on its efforts to extend the education of the community.

We look forward to the lectures with great interest.
