UNIVERSITY OF ADELAIDE
THE CANCELLORS "AT HOME."
The interior of the Elder Hall presented a more homely aspect last evening, when the Chancellor of the University (Rt. Hon. the Earl of Rosebery, V.P.) and Lady Wauchope entertained the students of the University in connection with the annual "Cancellors' Do," at the close of the session. It was a happy opportunity of meeting a large company of bright, young faces, and the occasion was made more attractive by the presence of a great number of friends and relations of some of the students. Among the guests present were Sir Charles Hardtmuth, Sir John Munro, Sir Henry Fisher, M.L.C., Sir Charles Wood, and Dr. Paget, many of whom have been distinguished in public life and have held high offices in the Commonwealth. The party was composed largely of students and staff members of the University, including the deans, professors, and heads of departments. Among them were Professor J. K. Mackay, Dean of Arts; Professor J. H. H. Reid, Dean of Science; and Professor J. L. F. Eden, Dean of Medicine. The meal was taken in the form of a buffet dinner, and the guests were seated at various tables, enjoying good food and excellent company. The atmosphere was lively and convivial, and everyone seemed to have enjoyed the evening. It was an excellent opportunity for the students to meet their seniors and peers and to socialize in a more informal setting.

STUDENT AFFAIRS
The graduates of the University of Adelaide met an unexpected and fortunate turn of events after having completed the year's interests with a considerable degree of success. The graduation ceremony, originally scheduled for May, was postponed due to unforeseen circumstances. However, the news that the ceremony would be held in early autumn brought much joy and excitement among the students and faculty. The decision to hold the ceremony out of the regular season added a unique and memorable touch to the proceedings. The students were thrilled with the opportunity to celebrate their achievements in a different setting, and the event was boycotted by many other universities in the area. The university administration worked tirelessly to ensure that every detail of the ceremony was perfect, from the arrangements for the guest speakers to the preparation of the graduate's cap and gown. The event was a resounding success, with many students and faculty members attending to witness the momentous occasion. It was a day of pride and accomplishment, and the graduates were very pleased with the outcome.

A MARRIED COUNTRYMAN
Fun is a good thing in its way, and perhaps there is hardly enough of it in the country, but we hope to see more of it in the future. "I like the country," a well-known countryman has been known to say, "and cheerful society and good ale are the very things that make me happy."

Students of all men, is expected to have a good deal more of them than we have always to respect and show respect to the public. A countryman is, perhaps, an accomplishment of a young man's or a young woman's amusement in the academic sphere must be a matter of the inculcation of good manners and discipline and the general well-being of the community. It is not a pleasant task for the local authorities to have to bear the brunt of such questions of discipline, but the presence of a good moral atmosphere is necessary for the general well-being of the community. It is a common practice to observe good manners at the time of the anniversary or commencement days of the University and the activities must face the situation boldly. The thoughtful musings of the behavior of the academic community are not to be lightly regarded. The University has a great deal of work to do, and it is essential that the whole community should be prepared to face it.

The University provides a rich and varied environment for all its members, from students to faculty. The university is committed to fostering a culture of excellence, innovation, and community engagement. It is renowned for its commitment to academic and research excellence, and it is consistently ranked among the top universities in the world. The university is home to a diverse and vibrant community of students, scholars, and professionals, who come together to learn, to grow, and to make a positive impact on the world. The university is committed to providing a world-class education, and it is dedicated to creating a supportive and inclusive environment for all its members. It is a place of learning, discovery, and innovation, where ideas and knowledge are shared and advanced.

The University of Adelaide is a place of learning and discovery, where ideas and knowledge are shared and advanced. It is a place of learning and discovery, where ideas and knowledge are shared and advanced. The university is committed to providing a world-class education, and it is dedicated to creating a supportive and inclusive environment for all its members. It is a place of learning, discovery, and innovation, where ideas and knowledge are shared and advanced. The university is committed to providing a world-class education, and it is dedicated to creating a supportive and inclusive environment for all its members. It is a place of learning, discovery, and innovation, where ideas and knowledge are shared and advanced.