The University.

The University Calendar, which was late last year, is still on the present occasion. Sectional parts, however, dealing with various courses of study, are in some cases already published, so that no inconvenience has been caused by the delay. The volume is a conventional and easily accessible form of gauging the work of the institution last year, and also its aims and standards for the future. It is not a mere dead record of statistics, names, and regulations. The papers for the various examinations are given, and an opportunity is afforded not only for an accurate value of the steps taken, but also for a forming of a judgment of the chances which present students may have when the period of test comes again. The University is a progressive institution, and not only is the scope of its curriculum steadily widening but its standards are being gradually raised. Already it is faced for the next session schools entrusted with the chief seat of learning in this city that the trend being this year will be the same. Examinations are at an end, and the council is considering what additional subjects should be added. The University is a progressive institution, and not only is the scope of its curriculum steadily widening but its standards are being steadily raised. Already it is faced for the next session schools entrusted with the chief seat of learning in this city that the trend being this year will be the same. Examinations are at an end, and the council is considering what additional subjects should be added.
