MUSIC EXAMS.

S.A. Professors Visiting the West

ADELAIDE, This Day.—Mr. Ennis, a professor of music, and C. R. Hodges the registrar of the Adelaide University, left by the R.M.S. Orontes today for Western Australia.

They are going away to make arrangements for the new examinations in music which are about to be instituted by the Universities of Melbourne and Adelaide, and which will commence next year in Adelaide.

The examinations are already conducting theoretical examinations in music in the West, but for practical examination nothing has been arranged until now.

MUSICAL EXAMINATIONS.

The New Scheme

Dr. Ennis and Mr. C. R. Hodges, professors of music and registered in the University of Adelaide, are visiting Western Australia to arrange for the new examinations in music projected by the Universities of Melbourne and Adelaide.

The principal object of Dr. Ennis's visit is to take part in the examinations in music projected by the Universities of Melbourne and Adelaide, and to see the necessary details for giving effect to the proposal. He is also to have a conference with a representative of this University, and to take up the matter of music for the preparation of the Associated Scheme of the Southern University.

Among the passengers by the R.M.S. Orontes, which leaves this afternoon, were Professor Ennis and Mr. C. R. Hodges, who are expected to leave for Melbourne to-day for the examinations.

Ennis is a well-known Australian musician, and his visit promises to be of much interest to the musical world.
