THE UNIVERSITY DINNER.

The Medical School's Majority.

The Governor's Advice on the Medical Scholarship.

At a dinner given by the Chancellor of the University of Adelaide in the Eliza Theatre on Saturday evening, the Governor of South Australia, Sir A. E. F. Tarbox, delivered a speech in which he gave counsel to the medical students of the University. He said that the University was the only institution of higher education in the state, and that it was the duty of the Government to support it. He said that the University was the only institution of higher education in the state, and that it was the duty of the Government to support it. He said that the University was the only institution of higher education in the state, and that it was the duty of the Government to support it. He said that the University was the only institution of higher education in the state, and that it was the duty of the Government to support it. He said that the University was the only institution of higher education in the state, and that it was the duty of the Government to support it. He said that the University was the only institution of higher education in the state, and that it was the duty of the Government to support it. He said that the University was the only institution of higher education in the state, and that it was the duty of the Government to support it. He said that the University was the only institution of higher education in the state, and that it was the duty of the Government to support it. He said that the University was the only institution of higher education in the state, and that it was the duty of the Government to support it. He said that the University was the only institution of higher education in the state, and that it was the duty of the Government to support it. He said that the University was the only institution of higher education in the state, and that it was the duty of the Government to support it. He said that the University was the only institution of higher education in the state, and that it was the duty of the Government to support it. He said that the University was the only institution of higher education in the state, and that it was the duty of the Government to support it. He said that the University was the only institution of higher education in the state, and that it was the duty of the Government to support it. He said that the University was the only institution of higher education in the state, and that it was the duty of the Government to support it. He said that the University was the only institution of higher education in the state, and that it was the duty of the Government to support it. He said that the University was the only institution of higher education in the state, and that it was the duty of the Government to support it. He said that the University was the only institution of higher education in the state, and that it was the duty of the Government to support it. He said that the University was the only institution of higher education in the state, and that it was the duty of the Government to support it. He said that the University was the only institution of higher education in the state, and that it was the duty of the Government to support it. He said that the University was the only institution of higher education in the state, and that it was the duty of the Government to support it. He said that the University was the only institution of higher education in the state, and that it was the duty of the Government to support it. He said that the University was the only institution of higher education in the state, and that it was the duty of the Government to support it. He said that the University was the only institution of higher education in the state, and that it was the duty of the Government to support it. He said that the University was the only institution of higher education in the state, and that it was the duty of the Government to support it. He said that the University was the only institution of higher education in the state, and that it was the duty of the Government to support it. He said that the University was the only institution of higher education in the state, and that it was the duty of the Government to support it. He said that the University was the only institution of higher education in the state, and that it was the duty of the Government to support it. He said that the University was the only institution of higher education in the state, and that it was the duty of the Government to support it. He said that the University was the only institution of higher education in the state, and that it was the duty of the Government to support it.