WESTERN AUSTRALIAN UNIVERSITY.

Perth, January 25th.

The University Bill will be read and was carried through the committee stage without amendment. In the Legislative Assembly last night, Mr. C. E. Wheatley, the President of the University, moved and seconded a resolution that the Senate of the University be elected at the next regular meeting of the Senate. The resolution was carried unanimously.

The Council of the University of Adelaide has decided to invite Professors Wilson for leave of absence for the purpose of attending the International Conference on Mainwaring to carry on his work during his absence. At the same meeting an invitation from the University of St. Andrews to the University of Adelaide was extended, but was declined.

UNIVERSITY OF ADELAIDE.

A meeting of the council of the South Australian branch of the British University of Melbourne was held on Thursday, January 27, to consider the proposal to be made to the University of Melbourne by the University of Adelaide. The meeting was attended by the President, Professor Wilson, and several other members of the council.

ANTARCTIC EXPLORATION.

A meeting of the council of the South Australian branch of the British University of Melbourne was held on Thursday, January 27, to consider the proposal to be made to the University of Melbourne by the University of Adelaide. The meeting was attended by the President, Professor Wilson, and several other members of the council.

The University Bill will be read and was carried through the committee stage without amendment. In the Legislative Assembly last night, Mr. C. E. Wheatley, the President of the University, moved and seconded a resolution that the Senate of the University be elected at the next regular meeting of the Senate. The resolution was carried unanimously.

The Council of the University of Adelaide has decided to invite Professors Wilson for leave of absence for the purpose of attending the International Conference on Mainwaring to carry on his work during his absence. At the same meeting an invitation from the University of St. Andrews to the University of Adelaide was extended, but was declined.

JOHN KNOX AND HIS TIMES.

The report of the board of examiners of the University of Adelaide in respect to the degree of Bachelor of Arts has been issued. In referring to the answer to the question of the board of examiners, they say: "The failure of history was not due to a lack of research, but rather to a failure to find the right sources." The report concludes with the recommendation that the University of Adelaide should be opened to all students, regardless of race or creed.

ADMISSION TO THE UNIVERSITY.

The University of Adelaide has decided to offer an opportunity for students to join the university in the autumn of this year. The opportunity will be available to students who have completed their secondary education and have obtained a satisfactory standard on the university's entrance examination. The university will offer a wide range of courses, including sciences, arts, and commerce.

HIGHER EDUCATION.

Last year, the Minister of Education (Mr. Conroy), the Hon. J. Cowan and A. W. Blakey, M.L. were appointed to a committee to report on higher education. The committee's report has been received by the Minister of Education and is now being considered. The report includes recommendations on the expansion of higher education, including the establishment of new institutions and the expansion of existing ones.

The University of Adelaide has decided to offer an opportunity for students to join the university in the autumn of this year. The opportunity will be available to students who have completed their secondary education and have obtained a satisfactory standard on the university's entrance examination. The university will offer a wide range of courses, including sciences, arts, and commerce.

HIGHER EDUCATION COMMISSION.

The recently-appointed Royal Commission on Higher Education held its meetings in Sydney last year. The commission was appointed to report on the state of higher education in Australia and to make recommendations for its improvement.

The report of the board of examiners of the University of Adelaide in respect to the degree of Bachelor of Arts has been issued. In referring to the answer to the question of the board of examiners, they say: "The failure of history was not due to a lack of research, but rather to a failure to find the right sources." The report concludes with the recommendation that the University of Adelaide should be opened to all students, regardless of race or creed.

ADMISSION TO THE UNIVERSITY.

The University of Adelaide has decided to offer an opportunity for students to join the university in the autumn of this year. The opportunity will be available to students who have completed their secondary education and have obtained a satisfactory standard on the university's entrance examination. The university will offer a wide range of courses, including sciences, arts, and commerce.

HIGHER EDUCATION.

Last year, the Minister of Education (Mr. Conroy), the Hon. J. Cowan and A. W. Blakey, M.L. were appointed to a committee to report on higher education. The committee's report has been received by the Minister of Education and is now being considered. The report includes recommendations on the expansion of higher education, including the establishment of new institutions and the expansion of existing ones.

JOHN KNOX AND HIS TIMES.

The report of the board of examiners of the University of Adelaide in respect to the degree of Bachelor of Arts has been issued. In referring to the answer to the question of the board of examiners, they say: "The failure of history was not due to a lack of research, but rather to a failure to find the right sources." The report concludes with the recommendation that the University of Adelaide should be opened to all students, regardless of race or creed.

ADMISSION TO THE UNIVERSITY.

The University of Adelaide has decided to offer an opportunity for students to join the university in the autumn of this year. The opportunity will be available to students who have completed their secondary education and have obtained a satisfactory standard on the university's entrance examination. The university will offer a wide range of courses, including sciences, arts, and commerce.

HIGHER EDUCATION COMMISSION.

The recently-appointed Royal Commission on Higher Education held its meetings in Sydney last year. The commission was appointed to report on the state of higher education in Australia and to make recommendations for its improvement.

The report of the board of examiners of the University of Adelaide in respect to the degree of Bachelor of Arts has been issued. In referring to the answer to the question of the board of examiners, they say: "The failure of history was not due to a lack of research, but rather to a failure to find the right sources." The report concludes with the recommendation that the University of Adelaide should be opened to all students, regardless of race or creed.