EDUCATION AND DEMOCRACY.

LIGHT FOR THE WORKERS.

LECTURE BY THE REV. W. TEMPLE.

Before a large attendance in the Prince of Wales "Benefit of the University on Wednesday. At the close of the lecture, Mr. Temple, who had kindly consented to speak on the subject he had chosen, was invited to express his thanks. Mr. Temple said: "I have not quite finished my lecture."

The topic of the lecture was the need for a national school system. The speaker pointed out that education was a fundamental right and that the quality of education should not be determined by the ability to pay. He also discussed the importance of democracy in education and how it could be achieved. The lecture was well-received by the audience, who expressed their gratitude for the speaker's insights.
