CARE FOR THE STUDENTS.

We have been requested to publish the following communication on behalf of the University College, Adelaide. It was made by Dr. C. J. Hambly, who stated that the students were unwilling to engage in any work which did not lead towards a University degree.

The students deplore the fact that they have been misrepresented to the Minister and the public, both in a statement of the real cause and in the suggestions made by the students. The report represents the students as being unwilling to engage in any work which does not lead towards a University degree, whereas they are not and have not been prepared for such great changes in the present system of education and are not willing to enter upon their teaching duties without further consideration of the matter.
