A QUEENSLAND UNIVERSITY.

AN ELOQUENT ADVOCACY

THE PRACTICAL ISSUE.

In response to the request of the Darling Downs Teachers' Association, the President of the Queensland Teachers' Union (Hon. L. E. Groom), lectured upon "A Queensland University: Its advantages to teachers," before that body in the Council Chambers at the Town Hall on Saturday forenoon.

There were 59 or 60 members of the Association and also men and letters of education interested in the subject.

Mr. W. Gray, President of the Association, occupied the chair and briefly introduced the distinguished lecturer.

Mr. G. J. Allpass, B.A. (Secretary Technical High School, Heir Pl Montford, B. A.), and others present.

Mr. W. Gray, President of the Association, occupied the chair and briefly introduced the distinguished lecturer.

Mr. G. J. Allpass, B.A. (Secretary Technical High School, Heir Pl Montford, B. A.), and others present.

Mr. Gray said: "I am about to address you this morning on the subject of a Queensland University. The idea of a Queensland University is a subject that has been agitated for many years. The Government of the State has been requested to consider the matter, and it is hoped that the Government will take some action in the matter."

"The need for a Queensland University is evident. The State of Queensland is one of the largest States in Australia, and it is home to a rich and varied population. The State is rich in resources, and it is necessary to have a university to develop the potential of the State."

"The need for a university in Queensland is not limited to the development of the State. The university will also provide educational opportunities for the people of the State. The university will provide educational opportunities for the people of the State. The university will provide educational opportunities for the people of the State."

The President then went on to discuss the benefits of a university education, and the importance of having a university in Queensland. He concluded his speech by saying that the people of Queensland were ready for a university, and that it was time for the Government to act.

The President then invited the audience to ask any questions they might have about the subject of a Queensland University. The audience was quite responsive, and many questions were asked. The President answered all of the questions to the best of his knowledge.

The meeting was adjourned at approximately 1:30 p.m.

OPINIONS OF AUTHORITIES.

The needs of intellectual development were as wide as the community of nations. Also, every advanced community recognized that industry and agriculture were dependent upon applied chemistry and science. He was glad to know that the Queensland University was well thought of.

The needs of intellectual development were as wide as the community of nations. Also, every advanced community recognized that industry and agriculture were dependent upon applied chemistry and science. He was glad to know that the Queensland University was well thought of.