Mr. A. A. Hutchenson received the motion that if the Government were going to take their behavior as a handle by which they could make their ends had much better stay away.

Mr. W. A. V. Drew pointed out that the civil servants of the Government, as a consequence, as it was called, for the present year. It reserved the right to forbid any programme to proceed to a service in any church, now the council might do anything it liked next year.

Mr. P. M. MacAvee strongly supported the motion. He said that if the students stayed away the hall would be practically empty. People would have no interest in the proceedings. (Cheers.)

The motion was carried unanimously and without a division.

Mr. L. W. Gill said that he thought there was nothing wrong in the suggestion that the programme for the Commemoration concert should be abolished, as others were, for approval.

Mr. MacAvee objected to the proposal. He said that it would be inconsistent with their previous actions if they did so. (Cheers.)

The chairman pointed out that the council had made up their minds to revise the programmes in case the hall was offered to the students for the examination. (Cheers.)

Voice—We don’t want their hall.

Mr. N. J. C. Jessop pointed out that the council was not making the proposal to inform the council that the students did not want the hall, and would not use it if offered to them, only making the conditions.

Mr. F. Coombs, who was arranging the programme for the students, suggested that advertisements should be included in the programme to supplement the students, that was the most orderly students’ programme he had seen in any part of the world.

Mr. Drew—Oh, that was a horrible mistake. We didn’t mean that (Laughter).

Mr. L. W. Gill suggested that the advertisements would make the programme a rather cheap affair.

(Laughter.)

It was decided to leave the question of the advertisements in the hands of the students and to ask the law students to point out that the “hogs” had no leg to stand upon in any such argument.

On Thursday afternoon a final meeting of the students was held at the University.

Mr. C. L. Jessop presided, and announced that the council had held a meeting to consider the position between the council and the students with reference to the Commemoration. The matter was left in the hands of a committee constituted by the council and members of the council.

According to the chairman, the council did not intend to proceed with any further action, and the students were told that the council would not proceed with the Commemoration Hall for their evening concert.

It was decided to hold the programme on the evening of Monday, December 11, through the streets of the city, and it was also decided to hold a students’ concert on that evening in some large city hall.

UNIVERSITY EXAMINERS’ ERRORS.

In the Assembly on Thursday afternoon Mr. Roberts called attention to the report of the committee of examiners. The committee had met in The Register of November 23, wherein the professor admitted that certain questions were in the recent junior public examination at the Adelaide University were wrongly-set, and that other questions were incomprehensible. In reply to questions from the members, the Premier said the Government had no power to prevent the publication of the report of what was found to be an absurdity, and had no power to make the examination to any scholar who might have taken it the question of the Government, however, would call the attention of the University authorities to the advantages of improved methods.
