"I HAVE BEEN HERE BEFORE"

A TIME PLAY
by
J. B. PRIESTLEY

The Author

John Boynton Priestley was born in 1894, the son of a schoolmaster. He saw active service in the First Great War, and in 1918 began his literary career with a volume of verse, The Chapman of Rhymes.

He has since written many novels and plays, which have been published in many different languages.

Priestley is now vitally concerned with U.N.E.S.C.O., and in July he addressed the First Congress of the International Theatre Institute. He emphasized the importance of the theatre as a means of preserving and promoting world peace, since the theatre brings players and audiences of differing nationalities and ideologies together in a most intimate way.

THE PLAY

This is one of the author's plays which deal with the subject of time. Priestley says that the theories of Time and Recurrence advanced by Dr. Gortler in the play were based on P. D. Ouspensky's book, A New Model of the Universe.

THE SETTING

The entire action takes place in the sitting room of the Black Bull Inn, Grindle Moore, North Yorkshire, a moorland Inn of the farmhouse type that serves as the local "pub" and also takes a few guests.

Act I ......... An evening in June, about eight o'clock
Act II ......... Saturday evening
Act III ......... Saturday night
The play will be performed on Tuesday, 17th August, at the "Drama Festival" presented in Melbourne by the National Union of Australian University Students. Drama groups from eight Australian Universities will perform at the festival. The South Australian production will be the opening performance.

New sets were constructed for the Adelaide production. These were built specially for this play by students, under the direction of Mr. Edward Beeby.
