UNIVERSITY EXTENSION LECTURES

"THE IPHIGENIA OF TAURIS"

Professor Duplex Taylor delivered his second lecture on this subject in the Y.W.C.A. auditorium in the University on Tuesday evening. The topic of his lecture was the English translation of the Greek drama of the same name. The lecture was well received by the audience.

MUSICAL EDUCATION

ENCOURAGEMENT FOR TEACHERS

In order to encourage teachers to develop the musical interests of their students, the Department of Education has issued a new set of guidelines. The guidelines recommend that music education should be integrated into the curriculum of all schools, and that teachers should be encouraged to develop their own musical skills. The Department also plans to provide more training opportunities for music teachers.

DR. MAWSON ENTERTAINED AT SALTER

LONDON, June 15. Dr. Douglas Mawson, the Australian explorer, was entertained at dinner to the Right Hon. Sir Richard Salter, M.P., at Lambeth Palace. The guest narrated the incidents surrounding the death of his companion, Dr. Donald McMurdo, and the discovery of the body by the expedition's airship. The father of Mr. Mawson was present.

Dr. Mawson went on to describe Captain Robert Falcon Scott's journey to the South Pole. That, he said, was a miracle of endurance.

Colonel Roosevelt, who was present, was greatly interested in the biography of the great explorer. The President paid a great tribute to the heroism of Captain Scott.

CONSERVATORIUM CONCERT

AN EXCELLENT PROGRAMME

An exceptionally attractive programme was presented at the Conservatorium last night. The excellent work of the contributing artists was received with appreciation by the large audience present.

One time was of a rather unusual nature. It was entirely new, and the audience was unprepared for it. The programme included a selection of songs by Grieg, Schumann, and Brahms. The singing was excellent, and the audience was highly impressed.

The orchestra, conducted by Herr Havel, was well-received. The performance was characterized by a great deal of precision and musicality.

At the University last night Professor H. Darnley Nayler, of the chair of English at the University, delivered three lectures on Euripides. The lectures were given in the auditorium of the University, and were well attended.

The lectures were received with interest and applause. The audience was unanimous in their praise of the lectures.
