CARE OF THE TEETH
DENTAL HOSPITAL WANTED

CHIEF SECRETARY SYMPATHETIC.

Adelaide requires a dental hospital in association with the University. A large number of young men of the Dental Society and Dental Graduates recently pointed this out to the Chief Secretary, but he said he had no means of obtaining the necessary funds. Dr. Edgar Parsons, M.P., said that they should consider the request for a grant, for the establishment of a dental hospital in the University, and for making provision for the training of dental practitioners in the University. It was proposed in Queens the University should have a dental hospital, where the poor could receive medical attention for the care of the teeth. Mr. J. S. B. Williams, M.P., said it was of the utmost importance that the University should provide a dental hospital, where the poor could receive medical attention for the care of the teeth.

Mr. G. F. Williams emphasised the fact that they wanted a hospital for the purpose of receiving practical training under the guidance of the dental faculty. The Dental Board had been working in connection with the University for some time, but at present students could only obtain training in the Dental Hospital at the University in parts of the Empire. He was sure that the students would avail themselves of the opportunity if it was offered. There were about 200 students in the state, but there were also many unregistered students, and some of them had not been registered in the past. He thought that if the Government would provide a dental hospital, they would be able to obtain a degree. This would be of great benefit to the students.

UNIVERSITY SUPPLEMENTAL CHARTER.

The University of Adelaide received a letter from the Secretary of the University, informing them that the University was established by the University Act of 1857. In 1911, the University was given a charter to confer degrees in engineering. In 1914, a royal charter was issued directing that certain academic distinctions which the University was authorized to confer should be entitled to rank precedence and consideration in the United Kingdom and in all colonies and British possessions throughout the world. A supplemental charter was issued in 1919, whereby the University was authorized to confer degrees in surgery and in engineering and in medicine in the United Kingdom and in all colonies and British possessions throughout the world. The University is now in possession of the local University.
