The Workers' Educational Association realizes that the workers' children pay up the workers' education. It has been found that which studies may be continued under competent tutors from the time of leaving school to the highest education. This must not only be open to boys and girls who are natural students, but to those also, who have passed during adolescence into industrial and commercial life. The educational ideals amid their social burdens must be able to claim their share in the best that education can offer. The work of the tutorial classes. They are, as it were, outposts of the university.

The board of governors of the Public Library, Museum, and Art Gallery of South Australia has decided to operate in the work of the Workers' Educational Association, and at the last meeting of the board, held on Friday, May 16, Messrs. Edward Davies, F. A. A., and Lionel W. Stanwood were elected as representatives of the public on the central council of the Workers' Educational Association. Sir-Lambert-Grayson has been elected by the council of the School of Mines as its representatives on the council of the central council. The council of the School of Mines expresses its entire satisfaction with the Workers' Educational Association, and gives the assurance that it will do all in its power to forward the work of the association.

The fact that at the first meeting called for students of the subject of "Economics," and 3 for "Industrial Law," augurs well for the future of the work. It proves that from the start there is an earnest body of young men and women willing to devote themselves to the advancement of the Social Studies, "Economics," and "Economic History" were the principal subjects of study. The Republic of English Literature," "Political Science, ""Social Science," "Philosophy," besides quite a number of other subjects. Delegates of all educational or other organizations, affiliated with the central council of the Workers' Educational Association, are requested to send their names to the secretary (Mr. T. B. Berry), Trades Hall, Adelaide, at the earliest possible moment, with a request for a speaker to the secretary of the Workers' Educational Association for the Non-Party Political Association, at its meeting on Wednesday evening last, at the Trades Hall, the Workers' Educational Association.
