FUNCTIONS OF UNIVERSITIES.
Address by Mr. Bryce.

It was a notable gathering in Tablet Hall on Friday night when at a special convocation of the University of Adelaide, the Doctor of Laws degree was conferred upon the Right Hon. James Bryce, Brit. Ambas.ador to the United States of America. Mr. Bryce, who has been an attorney at law and an elder of the Church of Scotland, and who was educated at the University of Oxford, B.L., D.L., University of Cambridge, and was elected a fellow of New College, Oxford, was presented with the degree of Doctor of Laws by the regents and members of the University. The ceremony was attended by many of the learned and professional men of the city, and the address of the Chancellor was accompanied by a number of students in the rear who were unable to get seats in the audience.
