Sudden Death of Lady Way

A BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH.

BUSY AND USEFUL CAREER.

LADY WAY was in every other sense a great country. Born in Stirling, Scotland, she was modest, and from her early years to those of her late life were most intimately connected for her was there that she passed from childhood to childhood and from the world of influences. Lady Way was a true friend and a valuable benefactor. Her Social Life.

It seems extraordinary that, despite all the busy and useful career of Lady Way, she brilliantly discharged her duties as a hostess. As wife of the Lieutenants-Governor, she had a great amount of entertaining, and her social life was a never-ending pleasure. She was favored by a charming personality, tact and a good sense of humor, and it was a great joy to all who knew her. Her public duties included the care of the hospital and the other charitable institutions. She was a member of the Women's Christian Association, District Trained Nursing Society, Victoria Buxton Girls' Club, Home for Indebted, Child Friendly Society, Ministering Children's Aid, Victoria Girls' Club, Travellers' Aid Society, and the Alliance Francaise. She was a true friend and a valuable benefactor.

The Funeral.

The funeral will take place at the Advertiser Church, 10:30, followed by the burial at the West Terrace Cemetery.
