UNIVERSITY BILL.

In committee clauses 1 to 5 passed.

Clause 9. University may confer degrees.

The Hon. J. R. BICE moved to add a proviso that "the existing agreement, between the University and the School of Mines, and the Governing Council, shall be modified, or as an alternative, the Bill to have a Bill passed to alter the law to make a change."

The CHIEF SECRETARY said that the amendment would meet with the support of everyone. It was in order, and he did not know that Parliament did not know enough of the agreements between the universities and the School of Mines to make it permanent and binding. He was sure that there would be no opposition to the arrangement. In the existing arrangement, there was a need for some modification to make it permanent. The Bill would have a Bill passed to alter the law to make a change.

The Hon. J. R. BICE said that he had considered the amendment. In his view, the existing arrangement was unsatisfactory. Seeing that he could not see what he was going to do, he was prepared to support the amendment as a means of removing the objection. Mr. Cowan had good reasons for proposing the amendment. As an alternative, he was in favor of the modification of the existing arrangement. The amendment would have a Bill passed to alter the law to make a change.

The CHIEF SECRETARY pointed out that the amendment could not be accepted. There were no alterations desired to the agreement. The agreement provided for the amendment to be made after consultation with the University and the School of Mines. The agreement was to be a permanent and binding agreement, and the amendment could not be rejected.

The Hon. J. J. DUNCAN thought that the amendment was one of the many alterations desired to the agreement. The amendment would have a Bill passed to alter the law to make a change. The amendment was in order, and he did not see why it should not be accepted.

The CHIEF SECRETARY asked whether the amendment was to be accepted. He pointed out that the amendment would have a Bill passed to alter the law to make a change. He was in favor of the amendment, and he did not see why it should not be accepted.
