The Minister of Education and the University Commissioner had agreed to increase the number of students and, in view of the increasing demand for places at the University of New South Wales, the Government decided to provide an additional five places for the third term of 1914.

Mr. Ryan said the change was due to the increase in the number of students and the need for more places at the University. The Government had decided to provide an additional five places in order to accommodate the increasing demand.

The Minister of Education and the University Commissioner had agreed to increase the number of students and, in view of the increasing demand for places at the University of New South Wales, the Government decided to provide an additional five places for the third term of 1914.

Mr. Ryan said the change was due to the increase in the number of students and the need for more places at the University. The Government had decided to provide an additional five places in order to accommodate the increasing demand.

The Minister of Education and the University Commissioner had agreed to increase the number of students and, in view of the increasing demand for places at the University of New South Wales, the Government decided to provide an additional five places for the third term of 1914.

Mr. Ryan said the change was due to the increase in the number of students and the need for more places at the University. The Government had decided to provide an additional five places in order to accommodate the increasing demand.

The Minister of Education and the University Commissioner had agreed to increase the number of students and, in view of the increasing demand for places at the University of New South Wales, the Government decided to provide an additional five places for the third term of 1914.

Mr. Ryan said the change was due to the increase in the number of students and the need for more places at the University. The Government had decided to provide an additional five places in order to accommodate the increasing demand.

The Minister of Education and the University Commissioner had agreed to increase the number of students and, in view of the increasing demand for places at the University of New South Wales, the Government decided to provide an additional five places for the third term of 1914.

Mr. Ryan said the change was due to the increase in the number of students and the need for more places at the University. The Government had decided to provide an additional five places in order to accommodate the increasing demand.

The Minister of Education and the University Commissioner had agreed to increase the number of students and, in view of the increasing demand for places at the University of New South Wales, the Government decided to provide an additional five places for the third term of 1914.

Mr. Ryan said the change was due to the increase in the number of students and the need for more places at the University. The Government had decided to provide an additional five places in order to accommodate the increasing demand.

The Minister of Education and the University Commissioner had agreed to increase the number of students and, in view of the increasing demand for places at the University of New South Wales, the Government decided to provide an additional five places for the third term of 1914.

Mr. Ryan said the change was due to the increase in the number of students and the need for more places at the University. The Government had decided to provide an additional five places in order to accommodate the increasing demand.

The Minister of Education and the University Commissioner had agreed to increase the number of students and, in view of the increasing demand for places at the University of New South Wales, the Government decided to provide an additional five places for the third term of 1914.

Mr. Ryan said the change was due to the increase in the number of students and the need for more places at the University. The Government had decided to provide an additional five places in order to accommodate the increasing demand.

The Minister of Education and the University Commissioner had agreed to increase the number of students and, in view of the increasing demand for places at the University of New South Wales, the Government decided to provide an additional five places for the third term of 1914.

Mr. Ryan said the change was due to the increase in the number of students and the need for more places at the University. The Government had decided to provide an additional five places in order to accommodate the increasing demand.

The Minister of Education and the University Commissioner had agreed to increase the number of students and, in view of the increasing demand for places at the University of New South Wales, the Government decided to provide an additional five places for the third term of 1914.

Mr. Ryan said the change was due to the increase in the number of students and the need for more places at the University. The Government had decided to provide an additional five places in order to accommodate the increasing demand.

The Minister of Education and the University Commissioner had agreed to increase the number of students and, in view of the increasing demand for places at the University of New South Wales, the Government decided to provide an additional five places for the third term of 1914.

Mr. Ryan said the change was due to the increase in the number of students and the need for more places at the University. The Government had decided to provide an additional five places in order to accommodate the increasing demand.

The Minister of Education and the University Commissioner had agreed to increase the number of students and, in view of the increasing demand for places at the University of New South Wales, the Government decided to provide an additional five places for the third term of 1914.

Mr. Ryan said the change was due to the increase in the number of students and the need for more places at the University. The Government had decided to provide an additional five places in order to accommodate the increasing demand.

The Minister of Education and the University Commissioner had agreed to increase the number of students and, in view of the increasing demand for places at the University of New South Wales, the Government decided to provide an additional five places for the third term of 1914.

Mr. Ryan said the change was due to the increase in the number of students and the need for more places at the University. The Government had decided to provide an additional five places in order to accommodate the increasing demand.

The Minister of Education and the University Commissioner had agreed to increase the number of students and, in view of the increasing demand for places at the University of New South Wales, the Government decided to provide an additional five places for the third term of 1914.

Mr. Ryan said the change was due to the increase in the number of students and the need for more places at the University. The Government had decided to provide an additional five places in order to accommodate the increasing demand.

The Minister of Education and the University Commissioner had agreed to increase the number of students and, in view of the increasing demand for places at the University of New South Wales, the Government decided to provide an additional five places for the third term of 1914.

Mr. Ryan said the change was due to the increase in the number of students and the need for more places at the University. The Government had decided to provide an additional five places in order to accommodate the increasing demand.