WORKERS' EDUCATIONAL ASSOCIATION

THE FORTHCOMING LECTURE

Arrangements are now well forward in connection with the forthcoming lecture to be given in the Trades Hall on Tuesday evening next, when Professor Meredith Atkinson, of the University of Toronto, will deliver a lecture on "The University and the Working Class in America," to the Women's Educational Association. Professor Atkinson, who is President of the University, will address the members of the Women's Educational Association, and will speak on a number of subjects, including the condition of the University, the University of Toronto, and the history of the University. The lecture will be followed by a discussion, and it is hoped that as many as possible will attend. The lecture will be given in the Trades Hall, and will be open to the public. The lecture is to be given on Tuesday evening, and will be followed by a discussion.
