Dr. Mawson, who is looking a little older than when he was last in Sydney, arrived by the morning's Melbourne express. He was welcomed by a large number of friends and admirers on the station platform. A civic welcome was tendered to him at the Town Hall.

Dr. Mawson, in replying to the toast of his health, said that he was not rushing away to England to give the centre of the Empire the first story of his expedition, but it was purely to get a popular publication of the expedition underway. This had to be done in order to complete the funds of the expedition. It was an amenity that he considered on when the expedition was arranged. He said that popular lectures will take place in Sydney, London, and England, and that he would hear first of the expedition. (Applause)
