Having only just returned from an extended visit to Australia, in connection with the Workers' Educational Association, Mr. Albert Mansbridge has given some interesting facts to the London press.

"I was invited," he said, "to go to Australia as a result of the debate held at the recent conference of universities held in London on the subject of the extension of the syllabus of the schools, and more particularly because of the facts that I was able to present to that body as to what had been done during the last ten years. The Workers' Educational Association in providing the working classes with educational facilities up to university standards is an admirable scheme. My object in going to the ordinary universities was not only to impart the information that was needed, but to inquire into the educational organisation of the Commonwealth, and generally to learn whatever could be of use to this country.

"I have come back more than ever convinced, after a very careful and systematic examination of the people in this country thoroughly interested in the life of the Commonwealth and of the British Commonwealth if ever such a thing is possible. The first and most lasting impression that I have got from my tour is one that no visitor can help acquiring. It is an impression of the tremendous constructive intelligence possessed by the Australians and their capacity for initiating and developing the most amazing projects into a reality. The members of these groups, through the casual visitor they appear in the main, in not a single group, are, in fact, quite opposite to this. The first and most lasting impression that I have got from my tour is one that no visitor can help acquiring. It is an impression of the tremendous constructive intelligence possessed by the Australians and their capacity for initiating and developing the most amazing projects into a reality. The members of these groups, through the casual visitor they appear in the main, in not a single group, are, in fact, quite opposite to this.

"The six Australian universities are at present in different stages of development. They are all equally interested in the same kind of education as the universities in this country and in the same kind of education as the universities in this country, and are all equally interested in the same kind of education as the universities in this country.

"To Melbourne, for instance, there has been an exhaustive investigation and a recommendation of far-reaching reforms. One thing is certain, they are very willing to allow the idea of a free entrance to those who have the proper qualifications. I, of course, was most cordial in their welcome.

Progress in Educational Administration.

"I can only express my profound admiration for the work that has been done in educational administration. The future of the country is bound up with the welfare of the country. The future of the country is bound up with the welfare of the country.

"The six Australian universities are at present in different stages of development. They are all equally interested in the same kind of education as the universities in this country and in the same kind of education as the universities in this country, and are all equally interested in the same kind of education as the universities in this country.

"To Melbourne, for instance, there has been an exhaustive investigation and a recommendation of far-reaching reforms. One thing is certain, they are very willing to allow the idea of a free entrance to those who have the proper qualifications. I, of course, was most cordial in their welcome.

Progress in Educational Administration.

"I can only express my profound admiration for the work that has been done in educational administration. The future of the country is bound up with the welfare of the country. The future of the country is bound up with the welfare of the country.

"The six Australian universities are at present in different stages of development. They are all equally interested in the same kind of education as the universities in this country and in the same kind of education as the universities in this country, and are all equally interested in the same kind of education as the universities in this country.

"To Melbourne, for instance, there has been an exhaustive investigation and a recommendation of far-reaching reforms. One thing is certain, they are very willing to allow the idea of a free entrance to those who have the proper qualifications. I, of course, was most cordial in their welcome.

"The six Australian universities are at present in different stages of development. They are all equally interested in the same kind of education as the universities in this country and in the same kind of education as the universities in this country, and are all equally interested in the same kind of education as the universities in this country.

"To Melbourne, for instance, there has been an exhaustive investigation and a recommendation of far-reaching reforms. One thing is certain, they are very willing to allow the idea of a free entrance to those who have the proper qualifications. I, of course, was most cordial in their welcome.

"The six Australian universities are at present in different stages of development. They are all equally interested in the same kind of education as the universities in this country and in the same kind of education as the universities in this country, and are all equally interested in the same kind of education as the universities in this country.

"To Melbourne, for instance, there has been an exhaustive investigation and a recommendation of far-reaching reforms. One thing is certain, they are very willing to allow the idea of a free entrance to those who have the proper qualifications. I, of course, was most cordial in their welcome.

"The six Australian universities are at present in different stages of development. They are all equally interested in the same kind of education as the universities in this country and in the same kind of education as the universities in this country, and are all equally interested in the same kind of education as the universities in this country.

"To Melbourne, for instance, there has been an exhaustive investigation and a recommendation of far-reaching reforms. One thing is certain, they are very willing to allow the idea of a free entrance to those who have the proper qualifications. I, of course, was most cordial in their welcome.

"The six Australian universities are at present in different stages of development. They are all equally interested in the same kind of education as the universities in this country and in the same kind of education as the universities in this country, and are all equally interested in the same kind of education as the universities in this country.

"To Melbourne, for instance, there has been an exhaustive investigation and a recommendation of far-reaching reforms. One thing is certain, they are very willing to allow the idea of a free entrance to those who have the proper qualifications. I, of course, was most cordial in their welcome.

"The six Australian universities are at present in different stages of development. They are all equally interested in the same kind of education as the universities in this country and in the same kind of education as the universities in this country, and are all equally interested in the same kind of education as the universities in this country.

"To Melbourne, for instance, there has been an exhaustive investigation and a recommendation of far-reaching reforms. One thing is certain, they are very willing to allow the idea of a free entrance to those who have the proper qualifications. I, of course, was most cordial in their welcome.

"The six Australian universities are at present in different stages of development. They are all equally interested in the same kind of education as the universities in this country and in the same kind of education as the universities in this country, and are all equally interested in the same kind of education as the universities in this country.

"To Melbourne, for instance, there has been an exhaustive investigation and a recommendation of far-reaching reforms. One thing is certain, they are very willing to allow the idea of a free entrance to those who have the proper qualifications. I, of course, was most cordial in their welcome.

"The six Australian universities are at present in different stages of development. They are all equally interested in the same kind of education as the universities in this country and in the same kind of education as the universities in this country, and are all equally interested in the same kind of education as the universities in this country.

"To Melbourne, for instance, there has been an exhaustive investigation and a recommendation of far-reaching reforms. One thing is certain, they are very willing to allow the idea of a free entrance to those who have the proper qualifications. I, of course, was most cordial in their welcome.

"The six Australian universities are at present in different stages of development. They are all equally interested in the same kind of education as the universities in this country and in the same kind of education as the universities in this country, and are all equally interested in the same kind of education as the universities in this country.

"To Melbourne, for instance, there has been an exhaustive investigation and a recommendation of far-reaching reforms. One thing is certain, they are very willing to allow the idea of a free entrance to those who have the proper qualifications. I, of course, was most cordial in their welcome.

"The six Australian universities are at present in different stages of development. They are all equally interested in the same kind of education as the universities in this country and in the same kind of education as the universities in this country, and are all equally interested in the same kind of education as the universities in this country.

"To Melbourne, for instance, there has been an exhaustive investigation and a recommendation of far-reaching reforms. One thing is certain, they are very willing to allow the idea of a free entrance to those who have the proper qualifications. I, of course, was most cordial in their welcome.

"The six Australian universities are at present in different stages of development. They are all equally interested in the same kind of education as the universities in this country and in the same kind of education as the universities in this country, and are all equally interested in the same kind of education as the universities in this country.

"To Melbourne, for instance, there has been an exhaustive investigation and a recommendation of far-reaching reforms. One thing is certain, they are very willing to allow the idea of a free entrance to those who have the proper qualifications. I, of course, was most cordial in their welcome.

"The six Australian universities are at present in different stages of development. They are all equally interested in the same kind of education as the universities in this country and in the same kind of education as the universities in this country, and are all equally interested in the same kind of education as the universities in this country.

"To Melbourne, for instance, there has been an exhaustive investigation and a recommendation of far-reaching reforms. One thing is certain, they are very willing to allow the idea of a free entrance to those who have the proper qualifications. I, of course, was most cordial in their welcome.

"The six Australian universities are at present in different stages of development. They are all equally interested in the same kind of education as the universities in this country and in the same kind of education as the universities in this country, and are all equally interested in the same kind of education as the universities in this country.

"To Melbourne, for instance, there has been an exhaustive investigation and a recommendation of far-reaching reforms. One thing is certain, they are very willing to allow the idea of a free entrance to those who have the proper qualifications. I, of course, was most cordial in their welcome.

"The six Australian universities are at present in different stages of development. They are all equally interested in the same kind of education as the universities in this country and in the same kind of education as the universities in this country, and are all equally interested in the same kind of education as the universities in this country.

"To Melbourne, for instance, there has been an exhaustive investigation and a recommendation of far-reaching reforms. One thing is certain, they are very willing to allow the idea of a free entrance to those who have the proper qualifications. I, of course, was most cordial in their welcome.

"The six Australian universities are at present in different stages of development. They are all equally interested in the same kind of education as the universities in this country and in the same kind of education as the universities in this country, and are all equally interested in the same kind of education as the universities in this country.

"To Melbourne, for instance, there has been an exhaustive investigation and a recommendation of far-reaching reforms. One thing is certain, they are very willing to allow the idea of a free entrance to those who have the proper qualifications. I, of course, was most cordial in their welcome.

"The six Australian universities are at present in different stages of development. They are all equally interested in the same kind of education as the universities in this country and in the same kind of education as the universities in this country, and are all equally interested in the same kind of education as the universities in this country.

"To Melbourne, for instance, there has been an exhaustive investigation and a recommendation of far-reaching reforms. One thing is certain, they are very willing to allow the idea of a free entrance to those who have the proper qualifications. I, of course, was most cordial in their welcome.

"The six Australian universities are at present in different stages of development. They are all equally interested in the same kind of education as the universities in this country and in the same kind of education as the universities in this country, and are all equally interested in the same kind of education as the universities in this country.

"To Melbourne, for instance, there has been an exhaustive investigation and a recommendation of far-reaching reforms. One thing is certain, they are very willing to allow the idea of a free entrance to those who have the proper qualifications. I, of course, was most cordial in their welcome.