The Register, December 17th, 1914
FIFTY-TWO SOLDIERS.

University’s Roll of Honour.

Students in the University and the colleges have ever been among the first to respond to the stirring appeal to arms. Thinking not of consequence, following one another to the field, they proved their patriotism and their valour, and in their place has come a roll of honour, they have always been ready to leave their books and go to the front. South Australia’s sons are playing their part in the world’s struggle, and the University, on Wednesday afternoon at the commemorations, will take its part in the service of the University of Adelaide. There in Elder Hall were gathered the professors, students, and other members of the University, the men of the University, who were fighting for the Empire, the Governor (Sir Henry Galway) did the same, and to complete the handful of prominent people a band of the men of the University, who were going to fight for the Empire, the Governor (Sir Henry Galway) did the same, and to complete the handful of prominent people a band of the men of the University, who were fighting for the Empire.

A Fine Record

After welcoming the Chancellor, the Chancellor continued: “I don’t think it is necessary to say that the members of the University are the first to join in the same spirit of patriotism and loyalty as our Brissie brothers all over the Empire. (Applause.) I don’t think that the University have already gone, or are about to go, to fight for the Empire. (Applause.) I don’t think that the names of the teaching staff who have gone are the same as the names of the teaching staff who have gone. (Applause.) First then is our veteran friend, Professor (Watts, the tutor of the obstetrical school. There are 12 candidates for this position, and all of them are going to Rhodes scholar, Madigan. (Applause.) Then there is the lecturer in pathology, and Dr. Wilson, the tutor in pathology. The candidates for this position are distinguished by the amount of work they have done in the University. In the meantime, I would like to mention the names of the officers, as I have read them. The name of the officers, as I have read them, is Mr. Newland. We have in Dr. Newland a distinguished graduate of our medical school, and he has a record of 7. If he works hard, he will do it well. (Applause.) Then there is the candidate for the position of lecturer in pathology, and Dr. Wilson, the tutor in pathology. The candidates for this position are distinguished by the amount of work they have done in the University. In the meantime, I would like to mention the names of the officers, as I have read them. The name of the officers, as I have read them, is Mr. Newland. We have in Dr. Newland a distinguished graduate of our medical school, and he has a record of 7. If he works hard, he will do it well. (Applause.) Then there is the candidate for the position of lecturer in pathology, and Dr. Wilson, the tutor in pathology. The candidates for this position are distinguished by the amount of work they have done in the University. In the meantime, I would like to mention the names of the officers, as I have read them. The name of the officers, as I have read them, is Mr. Newland. We have in Dr. Newland a distinguished graduate of our medical school, and he has a record of 7. If he works hard, he will do it well. (Applause.) Then there is the candidate for the position of lecturer in pathology, and Dr. Wilson, the tutor in pathology. The candidates for this position are distinguished by the amount of work they have done in the University. In the meantime, I would like to mention the names of the officers, as I have read them. The name of the officers, as I have read them, is Mr. Newland. We have in Dr. Newland a distinguished graduate of our medical school, and he has a record of 7. If he works hard, he will do it well. (Applause.) Then there is the candidate for the position of lecturer in pathology, and Dr. Wilson, the tutor in pathology. The candidates for this position are distinguished by the amount of work they have done in the University. In the meantime, I would like to mention the names of the officers, as I have read them. The name of the officers, as I have read them, is Mr. Newland. We have in Dr. Newland a distinguished graduate of our medical school, and he has a record of 7. If he works hard, he will do it well. (Applause.) Then there is the candidate for the position of lecturer in pathology, and Dr. Wilson, the tutor in pathology. The candidates for this position are distinguished by the amount of work they have done in the University. In the meantime, I would like to mention the names of the officers, as I have read them. The name of the officers, as I have read them, is Mr. Newland. We have in Dr. Newland a distinguished graduate of our medical school, and he has a record of 7. If he works hard, he will do it well. (Applause.) Then there is the candidate for the position of lecturer in pathology, and Dr. Wilson, the tutor in pathology. The candidates for this position are distinguished by the amount of work they have done in the University. In the meantime, I would like to mention the names of the officers, as I have read them. The name of the officers, as I have read them, is Mr. Newland. We have in Dr. Newland a distinguished graduate of our medical school, and he has a record of 7. If he works hard, he will do it well. (Applause.) Then there is the candidate for the position of lecturer in pathology, and Dr. Wilson, the tutor in pathology. The candidates for this position are distinguished by the amount of work they have done in the University. In the meantime, I would like to mention the names of the officers, as I have read them. The name of the officers, as I have read them, is Mr. Newland. We have in Dr. Newland a distinguished graduate of our medical school, and he has a record of 7. If he works hard, he will do it well. (Applause.) Then there is the candidate for the position of lecturer in pathology, and Dr. Wilson, the tutor in pathology.
The House of Turkey

His Excellency the Governor touched upon the same subject. He remarked: ‘A great learning; it is not only an institution of excellent organization in which the students are taught the art of thinking, but in which the members enjoy that training which encourages a sense of moral responsibility. The graduates, which are among the chief characters of a training in our universities, are, in fact, the future leaders of the country. It is stimulating to think that these men are scattered near the great cities, and have the opportunity to do battle against the hosts of Turkey or any other host that may come against us. We know the history of the University who are there, and the men from the schools from which they came. They will be fighting for their country and for their countrymen. (Applause.) I think we cannot sufficiently admire the splendid service performed by these men, and now they are dearest to our hearts. They are the true sons of the country, and we are proud of them. (Applause.)

Members of the Staff.

Capt. W. Carnegie, M.B., B.S., (Graduate in pathology),—Graduated 1877, was commissioned in the 5th Infantry and served in India, Afghanistan, and South Africa. He was appointed to the staff of the University of Adelaide, 1901, and is now in charge of the pathology department.

D. W. Cowan, B.S.,—Graduated 1879, M.B., in 1882. Appointed to the staff of the University of Adelaide, 1892. In 1900, was appointed to the staff of the University of Sydney, and is now in charge of the pathology department.

J. S. R. Broderick, B.A.—Graduated in 1879, M.B., in 1885. Appointed to the staff of the University of Adelaide, 1889, and is now in charge of the pathology department.

D. W. Cowan, M.B., B.S.,—Graduated in 1879, M.B., in 1882. Appointed to the staff of the University of Adelaide, 1892. In 1900, was appointed to the staff of the University of Sydney, and is now in charge of the pathology department.

J. S. R. Broderick, B.A.—Graduated in 1879, M.B., in 1885. Appointed to the staff of the University of Adelaide, 1889, and is now in charge of the pathology department.

M. S. Godbold, B.S.—Graduated in 1902, M.B., in 1906. Appointed to the staff of the University of Adelaide, 1906, and is now in charge of the pathology department.

Capt. W. Carnegie, M.B., B.S., (Graduate in pathology),—Graduated 1877, was commissioned in the 5th Infantry and served in India, Afghanistan, and South Africa. He was appointed to the staff of the University of Adelaide, 1901, and is now in charge of the pathology department.

D. W. Cowan, B.S.,—Graduated 1879, M.B., in 1882. Appointed to the staff of the University of Adelaide, 1892. In 1900, was appointed to the staff of the University of Sydney, and is now in charge of the pathology department.

J. S. R. Broderick, B.A.—Graduated in 1879, M.B., in 1885. Appointed to the staff of the University of Adelaide, 1889, and is now in charge of the pathology department.

D. W. Cowan, M.B., B.S.,—Graduated in 1879, M.B., in 1882. Appointed to the staff of the University of Adelaide, 1892. In 1900, was appointed to the staff of the University of Sydney, and is now in charge of the pathology department.

J. S. R. Broderick, B.A.—Graduated in 1879, M.B., in 1885. Appointed to the staff of the University of Adelaide, 1889, and is now in charge of the pathology department.

M. S. Godbold, B.S.—Graduated in 1902, M.B., in 1906. Appointed to the staff of the University of Adelaide, 1906, and is now in charge of the pathology department.
LIEUT.-COL. W. RAMSAY SMITH, D.S.O.-Graduated in 1900. Chairman Central Board of Health, Sydney, in charge of the 1st Australian Hospital. T. G. M. Fleming, M.B., B.S.-Graduated 1899, was in private practice at Hawker for two years, and served as a medical orderly in the South African War. J. S. Veeco, M.B., B.S.—Graduated in 1912. In January last appointed a member of the hospital staff.

GRADUATES ADMITTED TO HUSBAND GRAMOUR.

Two only—Dr. Wilson, M.D., of Sydney, who was on the staff as obstetrical tutor. Dr. H. R. P. L. G., of the University of Edinburgh, was admitted as husband grammar, but he has also graduated of the University of Adelaide, having obtained the D.Sc. degree in 1904.

STUDENTS.

—Faculty of Arts—

Pte. J. S. Blackburn—Has B.A. degree conferred at the commencement.

Matriculated Education Department student; passed two subjects.

S. B. and T. B.—Passed matured Education Department student; passed one subject.

Matriculated Education Department student; passed three subjects.

L. C. Proctor—First-year Arts course; did not graduate.

W. A. Kayser—Education Department; passed two subjects.

W. F. J. McCann—Education Department; passed one subject.

C. R. McLaren—Education Department; passed one subject.

E. C. Meldrum—Education Department; passed one subject.

P. E. P. N.—Passed evening scholarship; did not pass any subject.

G. A. Munro—Education Department; passed one subject.

—Faculty of Science—

Pte. C. E. Bagot—First-year science.

Cpl. K. B. Goode—Has degree of B.E. conferred at commencement.

Pte. G. de O. Robin—Second-year.

Faculty of Law—

Faculty of Medicine—

Lee-ct. R. A. Bennett—Second-year.

Pte. A. K. Ault—Has just completed third year.

Commercial Course—