NORTH-TERRACE RESERVES.

POSITION OF THE EIGHT HOURS LAW.

The North-Terrace Reserves Committee on Friday last, elected Mr. T. M. McCullagh, of the Hull House Co-Operative Union, as Chairman, and Mr. A. J. W. McCullagh as Secretary. The committee meet every Monday night at 8 o'clock. They aim at forming the Reserves for the purpose of providing a public park and public meeting place for the district.

ELDER SCHOLARSHIPS.

From Mrs. M. Kennedy, Knightbridge, has been received a donation of £50 towards the establishment of an Elder Scholarship in the New English High School. The donor, a native of Co. Kerry, has been for many years a resident in the town of Sydney, and has been active in various philanthropic works. She has been a long-time supporter of the New English High School, and she has now established this scholarship to enable young people from her old home to continue their education in this country.

News has been received in Adelaide that Dr. P. W. G. Pritchard, a well-known medical practitioner, has accepted an invitation to go to New Zealand in October, for the purpose of giving a series of lectures on the subject of the disease known as “edema.” Dr. Pritchard has been in practice for many years, and has made a name for himself in the field of medicine. He is well known not only in Adelaide but throughout the country, and his lectures on the subject of edema are eagerly anticipated. He is expected to return to Adelaide in December, having completed his series of lectures.

The Register, April 21st.

The Register, April 18th.
After the General Secretary to the Public Library Board felt inspired to initiate the formation of a library at the University of Adelaide, in place of Professor J. C. Hindmarsh, the President, he had no difficulty in securing the appointment of Professor W. D. Brown, who held the position with great success for more than 30 years. He was paid to be with his friends and to encourage the work of the University, with the late Professor C. S. Sillars, in which he had always been so greatly interested. As a result, the University has elected a member of the Library, Museum, finance, and printing committees.

April 14, 1916

PUBLIC EXAMINATIONS IN MUSIC

Injuncting candidates for the examination in theory and practice of music held at the University of Sydney, New South Wales, Queensland, and Western Australia, are reported by authorities, indicating that April 14 is the last day for entry.

April 19, 1916

UNIVERSITY EXTENSION LECTURES

The programme of University Extension lectures for the forthcoming season includes a series of lectures on big guns, with which the University will be fully equipped. This subject will be dealt with on three evenings. Then follow a series of three lectures on "The Mechanics of the Game." The concluding three lectures will be given by Professor G. H. and Professor C. H. on "Plants and Diseases."
The late Lieutenant C. G. Chapman.

The late Lieutenant C. G. Chapman, a 23-year-old university graduate, had been working for the Adelaide Survey Department for five years when he was killed in action on April 25, 1916. He was a much-loved member of the community and his death was mourned by all who knew him.

He spent nearly two years in charge of survey parties in the Dalle River country. He returned to Adelaide and entered into partnership with Mr. S. L. Sanders. On the outbreak of the war he enlisted and went away as a private with the 9th Battalion. He was sent to Egypt and then to Gallipoli. After being wounded on the morning of March 14, he was taken to the base hospital at Gallipoli. When he was discovered on the night of March 14, he was in the trenches, and the bullet that killed him was fired from a Turkish trench located only 100 yards away.

His body was later recovered from the trenches and taken back to Adelaide for burial in the family plot. The local community paid tribute to his memory with a public tribute and a commemorative plaque was erected in his honor in the local cemetery.