PROFESSOR DARNEY NAYLOR EXPLAINS

MACHINES CAUSE MONOTONY.

Comment made by Professor Darney Naylor has given rise to much discussion. Professor Naylor states that he believes machinery has caused a great deal of monotony in some quarters at the present time. The researches have shown that the present state of affairs is the result of a combination of circumstances which have led to mechanization of labor. When we look at the mechanism of machinery, we see it as a great machine which has taken the place of the human worker. This has caused a great deal of monotony in the work of the people who are now working with machinery.

It is said that the introduction of machinery has not only caused monotony but has also caused some loss of skill in the workers. This is a point which is often overlooked. It is true that machinery has taken the place of skill, but it has also taken the place of the worker. The worker is no longer a human being but a machine.

The discussion centered around the question of whether machinery should be introduced or not. Some people believe that machinery should be introduced because it will increase efficiency. Others believe that it should not be introduced because it will cause monotony and loss of skill.

The discussion then turned to the question of whether machinery should be introduced in factories or not. It was agreed that machinery should be introduced in factories because it will increase efficiency and save money.

The discussion then turned to the question of whether machinery should be introduced in the home. It was agreed that machinery should not be introduced in the home because it will cause monotony and loss of skill.

The discussion then turned to the question of whether machinery should be introduced in schools. It was agreed that machinery should not be introduced in schools because it will cause monotony and loss of skill.

The discussion then turned to the question of whether machinery should be introduced in the army. It was agreed that machinery should be introduced in the army because it will increase efficiency and save money.

The discussion then turned to the question of whether machinery should be introduced in the navy. It was agreed that machinery should not be introduced in the navy because it will cause monotony and loss of skill.

The discussion then turned to the question of whether machinery should be introduced in the air force. It was agreed that machinery should be introduced in the air force because it will increase efficiency and save money.

CHIEF JUSTICE ON HONOURS

With characteristic modesty we refer to Chief Justice Sir George Murray, speaking to us at a dinner given in his honour, as saying that having been present at a number of annual meetings on Thursday last he had not found them such a great success as what they had found in the committee of body the organisation of which he had been a member for many years and that he had been recently confirmed in his belief that there were many who were entitled to honours, but that many who were not entitled to the honours they were being given. He had been surprised to find that in the field of education and scholarship, not only from those outside the status quo, but from those who were outside even the education of the world—in different parts of the world, in England, France, and Egypt—there was room for recognition of the outstanding services of those who had contributed to the advancement of knowledge. (Applause.) He had been surprised to find that there were many who were entitled to honours, but that many who were not entitled to the honours they were being given. He had been surprised to find that in the field of education and scholarship, not only from those outside the status quo, but from those who were outside even the education of the world—in different parts of the world, in England, France, and Egypt—there was room for recognition of the outstanding services of those who had contributed to the advancement of knowledge.

STOP DRAMMING!

Problem of Schools' Examinations.

Nearly everything nowadays is governed by a financial provision. The phrase "times were better" is one which checks and postpones many desirable enterprises, but not the examination of the Education Department. In the present state of education in this country, it is not possible to consider any other than the examinations of the Education Department. In the present state of education in this country, it is not possible to consider any other than the examinations of the Education Department.

The sudden development of the education and the widening of the director of the Department has not, as it were, been too great a surprise. It has been observed by the education authorities in this State for some time, and it is now a general opinion that the examination is shaped towards an adjustment consistent with modern requirements and economic conditions. Tradition has hung about the examination, but the present overcrowding and superabundance in some parts of the country has shown that examinations are not the way to ensure the quality of work which has been worked on in Victoria and the surrounding States. It was expected that the examinations would pass away in their present form, and leaving certain...
