THE UNIVERSITY PROBLEM
From the Rev. F. Saxby Pools, M.A., Taylorsville, Virginia, before the North Terrace Reserve on Thursday, it was indeed of some interest to learn the President's estimate of the position of the University in the Press, and the way in which it is being conducted. He said that the University was in a very precarious position, and that it was being conducted in a very precarious manner. He also said that the University was in a very precarious position, and that it was being conducted in a very precarious manner.

UNIVERSITY SENATE NOMINATIONS
The new of the University Senate (Mr. T. A. Catered) has been received by the Press. The Senate has nominated Mr. T. A. Catered for the position of Vice-Chancellor. The candidate, Mr. T. A. Catered, is a well-known journalist and has been connected with the University for many years. He is popular with the students and has been consistently opposed to any changes that might be made in the University's system of government. The election was held on July 25, 1916.
BOTANIC GARDEN
CONTROVERSY

SUPPORT FOR THE BOARD, GOVERNMENT PROPOSALS CREDITED

Dr. E. Pellew, one of the most renowned horticulturists, speaking at the Annual Meeting of the Botanic Garden Society, has expressed his approval of the Government's proposals to extend the Botanic Garden. "It is a fine idea," he said, "and it is high time we gave the garden the facilities it deserves." Mr. Holbein, the gardener, has also expressed his approval, saying it was "the best equipment we have ever had for the garden." The Government has offered to provide the necessary funds for the extension.

First Two Men Sent Out

What was wanted, explained Dr.
Pellew, was a qualified horticulturist to
manage the botany,
and especially of Australia. The Government's offer of an experienced
director was more than sufficient to meet the requirements of the Board. The position
of director is one of considerable
importance, and it was important that the right man be selected. Dr. Pellew believed the Government's choice
of Mr. Holbein was excellent, as he had been associated with the garden for many years, and his
knowledge of botany
was well known.

Value of a Herbarium

The necessity of having a public herbarium was also discussed. Dr. Pellew
said that, in his opinion, it was of
great importance to
have a herbarium
in every country.

Need for More Funds

The Board also discussed the need for more funds for the garden. Dr. Pellew said that the garden was in a position where it
needed more
funds to continue to provide the public with the best possible
garden.
NORTH-TERRACE RESERVES.

The University Problem.

Further evidence affecting the future of the North Terrace Reserves Royal Commission at Parliament House on Monday. The commission heard evidence from Mr. J. M. Cook, Mr. J. M. Green, and Mr. J. M. Clune.

The President of the Industrial Court, Mr. J. W.捷党政 Brown, stated that the University should be divided into lower and higher branches. The number of students would be divided into two categories: those who are to be educated at the University and those who are to be educated in the State high schools.

The University was dependent upon the State for a definite sum of money for the building of the new University. It was the future development of the University that he was most interested in. He had seen the University and industrial advancement in South Australia. He hoped that the Government would strengthen the University in this connection, because the future of Adelaide, he thought, was bound up with the University.

The best thing would be to keep the University in the present site and join it up with the present School of Mines. The present School of Mines should be divided into lower and higher branches. The number of students would be divided into two categories: those who are to be educated at the University and those who are to be educated in the State high schools.

Mr. J. W.捷党政 Brown, chairman of the Board of Governors of the Belgrave Grammar School for 40 years, said that the Gardiner's Park should be divided into lower and higher branches. The number of students would be divided into two categories: those who are to be educated at the University and those who are to be educated in the State high schools.

The University was dependent upon the State for a definite sum of money for the building of the new University. It was the future development of the University that he was most interested in. He had seen the University and industrial advancement in South Australia. He hoped that the Government would strengthen the University in this connection, because the future of Adelaide, he thought, was bound up with the University.
The Botanic Gardens.

Directorship Dispute.

The Commissioner of Crown Lands (Hon. C. Goode) stated in Monda-y—

"All hope of a voluntary settlement of the deadlock in connection with the above appointment seems to be at an end. The Government offered a compromise, but it has not been accepted. Our original proposals were these—"

Further correspondence followed, and it appeared that a dead-lock had apparently been reached in a matter of this sort, a time being agreed to adjourn the matter as a consequence if the board would agree.