THE UNIVERSITY TROUBLES.

The urgent need for increased accommodation at the University of Adelaide was brought under the notice of the Government on Monday, when a deputation composed of Vice-Chancellor (Professor Mitchell) and Professor Chapman waited upon the Premier (Hon. A. B. Calwell). The deputation was received by the Premier and the Treasurer, Mr. V. J. Coghlan, and an agreement was entered into to build a new teaching building. Accompanying the deputation were the Rector, P. F. O'Malley, M.A., and the Deputy Vice-Chancellor, Mr. H. B. Cook.

The deputation stated that there had been a great increase in the number of students since the University was opened and that as many as 100 per cent. of the students did not have a room. The Professor of Mathematics had no fewer than 111 first-year students, whereas in 1890 there were only 40. It was necessary to have a new building to house the departments of engineering, law, and commerce. Without the building the University would be unable to provide accommodation for its students.

CRAMPED FOR ROOM.

RHOES SCHOLARS.

The report for the year 1919, issued by the Rhodes Trust, London, states that the chosen of the best students at the University of Adelaide were the recipients of the Rhodes Scholarship for 1920 and 1921. Among those who were chosen were two Rhodes scholars from the University of Adelaide, the first of whom was a student at the University of Melbourne, and the second was a student at the University of Sydney.

WELFARE CONDITIONS.

The Government has decided to give the University of Adelaide the same conditions as those which apply to the University of Melbourne. The University of Adelaide will be allowed to have an additional 100 students, and the Government will provide the necessary funds to accommodate them. The University will be allowed to have an additional 100 students, and the Government will provide the necessary funds to accommodate them. The University will be allowed to have an additional 100 students, and the Government will provide the necessary funds to accommodate them. The University will be allowed to have an additional 100 students, and the Government will provide the necessary funds to accommodate them. The University will be allowed to have an additional 100 students, and the Government will provide the necessary funds to accommodate them. The University will be allowed to have an additional 100 students, and the Government will provide the necessary funds to accommodate them.