LECONOMICS OF LABOR

WORKERS' EDUCATION.

PROFESSOR MURPHY'S LECTURES.

The Tuesday night lectures on economics of labor by the Workers' Education Association at Adolph College continue. The meeting last Tuesday night was well attended and a number of questions were asked.

Professor Murphy described the economic conditions of labor during the depression and the causes of unemployment. He explained that wages depend on the demand for labor and the supply of labor. He also discussed the role of unions in improving the conditions of workers.

The discussion was very lively and the audience was interested in the topics discussed. The next lecture will be on the history of labor legislation and its impact on the working class.

--Advert.--

INTER-UNIVERSITY DEBATE.

For the first time it has been decided to hold a series of debates between Oxford University and Cambridge University. The debate will take place on December 3rd and is expected to be a major event for both universities.

The topic of the debate will be the question of education and the role of universities in society. The debate will be held in the great hall of the university and is expected to attract a large audience.

--Advert.--

PROFESSOR BERRY'S VISIT.

An interesting lecture on the economics of labor was given by Professor Berry at the University of Melbourne. The lecture focused on the impact of technology on the workforce and the changing nature of work.

Professor Berry discussed the role of technology in the workplace and how it has changed the nature of work. He also talked about the impact of technology on the economy and how it has affected the distribution of income.

The lecture was well received and the audience was impressed with Professor Berry's knowledge and insight. The next lecture will be on the role of government in the economy and how it can influence economic growth.

--Advert.--

ECONOMICS OF LABOR

WORKERS' EDUCATION.

PROFESSOR MURPHY'S LECTURES.

The Tuesday night lectures on economics of labor by the Workers' Education Association at Adolph College continue. The meeting last Tuesday night was well attended and a number of questions were asked.

Professor Murphy described the economic conditions of labor during the depression and the causes of unemployment. He explained that wages depend on the demand for labor and the supply of labor. He also discussed the role of unions in improving the conditions of workers.

The discussion was very lively and the audience was interested in the topics discussed. The next lecture will be on the history of labor legislation and its impact on the working class.

--Advert.--

INTER-UNIVERSITY DEBATE.

For the first time it has been decided to hold a series of debates between Oxford University and Cambridge University. The debate will take place on December 3rd and is expected to be a major event for both universities.

The topic of the debate will be the question of education and the role of universities in society. The debate will be held in the great hall of the university and is expected to attract a large audience.

--Advert.--

PROFESSOR BERRY'S VISIT.

An interesting lecture on the economics of labor was given by Professor Berry at the University of Melbourne. The lecture focused on the impact of technology on the workforce and the changing nature of work.

Professor Berry discussed the role of technology in the workplace and how it has changed the nature of work. He also talked about the impact of technology on the economy and how it has affected the distribution of income.

The lecture was well received and the audience was impressed with Professor Berry's knowledge and insight. The next lecture will be on the role of government in the economy and how it can influence economic growth.

--Advert.--