DENTAL COLLEGE

Wanted at Adelaide Hospital.

An important deputation, led by the Hon. J. H. Cooke, M.L.C., waited upon the Premier (Hon. A. H. Peaks) on Monday morning with reference to the establishment of a dental hospital for Adelaide, and was received at the Adelaide Hospital. The speakers were Sir Joseph Verco (University), Dr. F. J. Conner (representative of the Dental Board), Morrison, B. Johnson (representative of the Government on the Dental Board), W. G. Coombes (Chairman of the Adel Medical Council), F. M. Coombe, G. B. Gill Williams (Dental Graduate Society), and Alex Swan (Ophthalmological Society). The deputation was received by the Premier, who was accompanied by the Undersecretary for Education, and was directed to the Dental School at St. Vincent's Hospital. The Premier was assured that the Dental School was well managed, and was able to take care of any number of students. The deputation was then adjourned to the Adelaide Hospital, where they were shown through the wards and operating rooms. The Premier was highly impressed with the facilities provided for dental education and training at the hospital.

THE UNIVERSITY OF ADELAIDE

The council of the University of Adelaide met on Monday, July 31, 1919, in the presence of the Chancellor, the Hon. E. S. Willing. The council was called to order by the Master of the University, Mr. H. G. Cunningham, and the meeting was attended by a large number of students and faculty members. The council, after discussing various matters, adjourned.

FROM WAR TO PEACE

Dr. Phoebe Chappell's Return

[By a Special Reporter]

The great war, in spite of its anguish, has made a great impression on many. The experiences of Dr. Phoebe Chappell, who served in the medical corps during the war, have been shared by many others, including young doctors and nurses.

Phoebe Chappell, a young doctor from Adelaide, volunteered to serve in the medical corps during World War I. She was stationed in London, where she worked tirelessly to help wounded soldiers and civilians. Her experiences were both harrowing and inspiring, and she returned home a changed woman.

EXAMINATIONS IN MUSIC

PAN-AUSTRIAN SCHEME

HIGH STANDARD MAINTAINED

Professor E. H. Darby (Director of the Elder Conservatorium of Music) has been in the forefront of the Pan-Austrian Music Examinations Board. In his capacity, he has emphasized the importance of music education in the community. The examinations are conducted by the University of Adelaide and are open to students from all over Australia. The high standard maintained by the board has been a reflection of the quality of music education in Australia.

MISS MAUDE PADDY

At the latest meeting of the Council of the Elder Conservatorium of Music, Miss Mau de Paddy, Miss B. E. A., M.A., was appointed a teacher by the board. Miss Paddy, who has been working in the field of music for many years, brings a wealth of experience and talent to the role. The council was pleased to welcome her to the ranks of its members.

Adelaide Mercury, July 29, 1919