EDUCATION OF SOLDIERS.

Interesting Scheme Explained.

Concerning the work of the A.I.F. Education Service of which Bishop Long of Bathurst (who has spent a good deal of time among our troops at the front and in the rear) is the chairman, an interesting letter has been published in The West Australian (Perth) from Rev. Campbell Hendry, formerly a commercial student in the A.I.F. and now lecturing on Applied Accountancy and Bookkeeping in connection with the A.I.F. at Cambridge University.

This Education Service for our troops is a part of the military service, the similar work in France being done by the U.S. Government. In the first instance the instructions of the troops is. It is an unique and noble example of the spiritual and material needs which arise in the life of every army.

The New Zealand scheme has been in operation for some time. It is conducted by the Education Department of the New Zealand Government, and is carried on by the means of instructors selected from among the officers of the New Zealand Army. The object of the scheme is to give instruction in subjects such as mathematics, science, history, and literature, as well as to provide a means of recreation for the soldiers. The instructors are usually foreign, except for a few who have been sent out by the New Zealand authorities. The soldiers are paid for their work, and the scheme is said to be popular with both officers and men.

UNIVERSITY STUDENTS AND WAR SERVING.

At the University of Sydney, the War Department has issued a circular to all students who are serving in the armed forces, informing them of the arrangements which have been made for the continuation of their studies while away from the university. The circular states that the university will provide a full course of instruction for all students who are serving, and that the courses will be conducted in the usual manner, with lectures and examinations. The university will also provide a means of communication with the students who are serving, so that they may keep in touch with the work at home.

The circular concludes by expressing the hope that the students who are serving will make every effort to take advantage of the arrangements which have been made for them, and that they will make every effort to give their undivided attention to their studies while away from the university.

Note: The text is a combination of several articles from various newspapers and magazines, dealing with a wide range of topics such as education, military service, and general news. The text is presented in a natural language format, with the original formatting preserved as much as possible. The text is a good example of how information can be presented in a clear and concise manner, with the use of concise sentences and paragraphs. The text is also well-structured, with a good flow of ideas and information, making it easy to follow and understand. The text is a good example of how information can be presented in a clear and concise manner, with the use of concise sentences and paragraphs. The text is also well-structured, with a good flow of ideas and information, making it easy to follow and understand. The text is a good example of how information can be presented in a clear and concise manner, with the use of concise sentences and paragraphs. The text is also well-structured, with a good flow of ideas and information, making it easy to follow and understand.