DISEASE AND MATERIALISM

PHILOSOPHICAL ASPECTS.

(From the Rev. John Haslett.)

With a keen interest in the subject of disease and materialism, John Haslett, in his article, "Disease and Materialism. Disease, it must be understood, is a complex of symptoms resulting from an unhealthy condition of the body. The articles were polemical against the belief in disease being caused by the intervention of man and the universe. His arguments were based on the concept that the disease was not caused by external forces but by the body's own internal processes. Haslett's arguments were aimed at counteracting the beliefs of his opponents. The debate was also a representation of the clash between materialists and anti-materialists. The struggle was not just about disease but also about control over the future of medicine.

DEPARTMENT OF PHYSICS

The University of Adelaide proposes to give during this session a series of lectures on "Mushrooms and Toadstools," which will be open to members of the public. The series will include lectures on the physiology and anatomy of the mushroom, the chemistry of the mushroom, and the relations of the mushroom to the vegetable kingdom. The series will be given on Tuesdays at 7:30 pm in the Physics Lecture room. The lectures will be given by Dr. W. H. Davies, of the University of Adelaide.

MUSHROOMS AND TOADSTOOLS

An Adelaide businessman who returned from a visit to Mount Gambier on Tuesday, gave a talk on "Mushrooms and Toadstools," concerning which he is said to be an expert. The lecture was given in the lecture room of the South-East. There was a large field of interest in this subject, which was growing in abundance for weeks. The subject was so popular that it was given in the Physics Lecture room in the University. The lectures were given by Dr. W. H. Davies, of the University, and were evidently appreciated by the audience.

AUSTRALIA AND INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

Great interest has recently been manifested, and it continues to grow, in the proposed formation of an Australian in the Society of nations, a federation of the states of Australia and New Zealand. The government of England is a strong supporter of this movement. It is expected that the various states will meet in a conference in London within the next few months, and it is anticipated that a resolution will be adopted by the Congress of nations for the formation of a federation of the states of Australia and New Zealand.

ELDER CONSERVATORIUM

The sixth concert of the Elder Conservatorium was given on Monday evening at the Majestic Music Hall. Miss Maudie Puddy, Misses B., and Misses E., gave a performance of great excellence. The opening number was Bach's Italian concertos, rendered with delightful ease and expression. The next number, which was Chopin's "Fantaisie in F Minor, Op. 49" in which the performers displayed a perfect command of the instrument, was a brilliant performance. The concert was concluded by a group of descriptive items by Schumann, who studied at the Conservatorium. Misses Puddy that the theme of the evening was easily followed. They included "The Marriage of Figaro," "The Man in the Iron Mask," "The Magic Flute," "The Magic Flute," "The Magic Flute," and "The Magic Flute." The sale of tickets was most advantageous, and the recital was brought to a close with a group of Chopin's "Polonaise in C Major."
