EELDA CONSERVATORIUM.

STUDENTS' CONCERT.

Enthusiasm, always and everywhere, is the keynote of all University life. The students of the Adelaide Conservatorium of Music are no exception to this rule. They are enthusiastic about their work, and it is a most hopeful sign for the future of music in Adelaide that this spirit of helpfulness and enthusiasm is not confined to the Conservatorium itself, but is spread among teachers and students alike.

At the monthly meeting of the Adelaide University Council, on Tuesday, March 15th, 1921, unanimously decided to invite Mr. Charles R. Jury, of Magdalen College, Oxford, as the first student of the University of Western Australia.
