FORESTRY SCHOOL

AID FROM COMMONWEALTH

EMPIRE INSTITUTE PROPOSED.

Afforestation is a subject in which the Commonwealth is vitally interested. The Commonwealth hopes to stimulate afforestation throughout Australia, and one of the ways of doing this is by establishing a Commonwealth Forestry Institute. It is the intention of the Government to establish such an Institute and to make it a centre for the study and promotion of afforestation. It is also the intention of the Government to make the Institute a centre for the study and promotion of the use of native timber in the construction of public works.

PRINCING GIFT

£40,000 FOR UNIVERSITY.

SIR LANGDON BONYTHON'S BENEFICATION.

At a special meeting of the Council of the University of Adelaide, the Chancellor (Sir George Murray, M.C., M.G.) announced that, in recognition of the services of Dr. Langdon Bonython to the University, a benefaction of £40,000 had been made to the University by the late Sir Langdon Bonython, M.C., M.C., G.C.M.G., in recognition of his services as a member of the Council of the University of Adelaide. The benefaction was made on behalf of the University by the late Sir Langdon Bonython, M.C., M.C., G.C.M.G., in recognition of his services as a member of the Council of the University of Adelaide.

My Dear Chancellor—For years past I have been thinking of giving to the University of Adelaide a great gift to the University of Melbourne, and I have had the pleasure of receiving the promise of the University of Melbourne to accept the gift. I have therefore arranged with the University of Melbourne to accept the gift of £40,000, and I have the pleasure of announcing to you that the University of Melbourne has accepted the gift.

Higher Education

IMPORTANCE OF THE UNIVERSITIES.

Melbourne, January 31.

Sir William Irvine, the Lieutenant-Governor of Victoria, on Thursday last, presented a cheque for £40,000 to the University of Melbourne, and went on to speak of the University of Melbourne as an institution of national importance. He said that the University was in a most flourishing condition, and that the University was in a position to attract students from all parts of the Commonwealth.

Sir William Irvine said: "The University of Melbourne is one of the most important institutions in the Commonwealth. It is a great treasure, and it is the duty of every citizen to support it. The University is in a position to attract students from all parts of the Commonwealth, and it is the duty of every citizen to support it. The University is in a position to attract students from all parts of the Commonwealth, and it is the duty of every citizen to support it. The University is in a position to attract students from all parts of the Commonwealth, and it is the duty of every citizen to support it."
