Programme for this Year.

The Workers' Educational Association of South Australia is arranging for the opening of its classes in March and April. During the past year, due to the exigencies of the University examination, the Association met with serious difficulties. The administration of the University, however, have decided that the difficulties will be overcome by the arrangement of special classes during March and April instead of the usual long course, and by the giving of special classes on Saturday, during the Easter holidays. In addition, the organisers have succeeded in securing an increase in the number of students attending classes. It is expected that the increase, which is considerable in some classes, will be reflected in the increase of the students attending classes. The Association has also succeeded in obtaining an increase of the number of members, and this increase is expected to be reflected in the increase of the number of students attending classes. DISEASE IN VINES.

A good deal of speculation has been caused amongst vine growers in southern Australia during the week or two on account of an outbreak of downy mildew. Slightly over a week ago, the South Australian Government received a report of an outbreak of downy mildew, which was subsequently confirmed by the State's agricultural inspector. The report stated that the disease had been caused by a new strain of the disease, which had been introduced into the State from overseas.
