An Even Keel on Exchange.

"An even keel" on exchange. The recent disturbances on the exchange have not affected the prices of goods in the United Kingdom nearly so much as exchange transactions. The prices of goods in the United Kingdom have been more affected by the disturbances on the exchange than by the prices of goods in other countries.

"An even keel on exchange" is a phrase used to describe a situation where exchange rates are stable and there is no significant upward or downward movement. In this context, the phrase is used to describe the relative stability of the exchange rates between the United Kingdom and other countries.

Land Taxation in Australia.

The Federal Land Tax.

By Dr. M. Heston.

The Federal Land Tax, imposed in 1910, was a tax on land. It was designed to be a progressive tax, meaning that it would be higher on more valuable land. The tax was intended to encourage the development of land and to raise revenue for the government.

The tax was imposed to address the issue of land speculation and to encourage the development of land. The tax was intended to be a progressive tax, meaning that it would be higher on more valuable land. The tax was intended to raise revenue for the government.

Industrial Legislation.

The past year has been a peaceful one in the industrial world. There have been no strikes or disturbances in South Australia. The state has been free from industrial strife of any kind. The situation is much better than in other parts of the world. The industrial world is enjoying a period of peace and prosperity.

The state has been free from industrial strife of any kind. The situation is much better than in other parts of the world. The industrial world is enjoying a period of peace and prosperity.

Empire Trade and Overseas Markets.

The last financial year has been a good one for the Empire. There has been a considerable increase in trade with the countries of the Empire. The export trade has been particularly good. The import trade has also increased, but not to the same extent as the export trade.

The last financial year has been a good one for the Empire. There has been a considerable increase in trade with the countries of the Empire. The export trade has been particularly good. The import trade has also increased, but not to the same extent as the export trade.