Dalton Plan on Trial

(By "Canada")

In education, as in most things, "the perfect plan" is, as yet, unknown, and is to be found only in the "endeavor place." It is interesting therefore, to listen to the teaching of today from that which of yesterday.

Their task is "to bear the ten thousand eyes in service," that they may have a true sense of responsibility in the proper direction.

To teach the young how to abash, and to set the example of those who are not only to bear the burdens of the world, but to live the examples of the wise and noble.

The Dalton plan is a new and a valuable addition to the educational system, a plan which is designed to enable the scholar to make the proper use of his time.

The plan is as follows: The Dalton system is a plan of giving the scholar a complete education, and enabling them to choose the proper path of study.

The plan is based on the principle that the scholar should have a complete education, and that he should be enabled to choose the proper path of study.

PRIVATE SCIENTIFIC FORESTRY

A COMMENDABLE ENTERPRISE.

An unusual class of investigation for Australia is that of forestry, an industry that has been neglected in many parts of the continent. The state of Victoria has been the most active in this direction. The state of New South Wales has also shown great interest in forestry.

Miss Jacob is a prominent figure in the field of forestry, and her work is highly esteemed.

The late Sir John16,644 B.C.24, has contributed much to the cause of forestry in this country, and his work has been highly esteemed.

NATIONALISM

PART IV.

In my preceding article I traced very briefly the growth of the idea of nationalism, I showed its rise in Great Britain, and its development in the United States.

I pointed out the advance of nationalism as a result of the Reform Bill of 1832, and the extension of the franchise to the middle classes.

Nationalism is the conception of a nation as a community with a common interest, a common tradition, a common language, and a common culture.

What is the meaning of a nation, and what is its characteristic? A nation is a community that has a common interest, a common tradition, a common language, and a common culture.

The capital is fixed at £500,000. The company is authorized to raise another £500,000, and to purchase land for the purpose of carrying on the business.

I will not attempt to define the word "nation," but it may be said that it is a community with a common interest, a common tradition, a common language, and a common culture.

Meaning of Nation

Not infrequently the word "nation" is used ambiguously, and is used to mean something that is not one thing, and it is the word is used to mean something else.

I will attempt to define the word "nation," but it may be said that it is a community with a common interest, a common tradition, a common language, and a common culture.
