UNIVERSITY RETIREMENTS.

Long and Valued Service.

Three Important Resignations.

The resignation of Professor C. G. Henderson (Professor of History), Dr. A. A. Lenden (Teacher in History), and Mr. C. P. HUDGE (Registrar) were respectfully received and accepted by the Council of the University of Adelaide at a meeting on Friday.

The retirement of Professor Henderson and Mr. HUDGE has been long and expected. Prof. Henderson, who has been a member of the faculty of History for more than 40 years, was one of the earliest and most prominent of the professors of history in the University. His services have been invaluable, and his presence and influence will be sorely missed.

Mr. HUDGE, who has been Registrar of the University for many years, is well known for his sound judgment and broad experience. He has been a tireless worker, and his services have been of great value to the University.

The resignations of these three men mark the end of a long and distinguished career in the University.

DIABETES PATIENTS SUFFER.

The amount of alcohol allowed diabetics is small, but the allowable daily dose of alcohol is 50 gallons a year, and the consumption of alcohol is high. As a result, the rate of suicide among diabetics is higher than the rate among the general population. The number of suicides among diabetics is 10 times higher than the rate among the general population. The rate of suicide among diabetics is 10 times higher than the rate among the general population. The rate of suicide among diabetics is 10 times higher than the rate among the general population.

Mr. Charles R. Hodge, Registrar of the University, has been granted leave of absence until February next, when he is expected to return to his post.

Mr. Hodge has held office for 30 years, and has been a member of the faculty for 40 years.

The resignation of Mr. Hodge is due to his long service and his many years of faithful service to the University.
