LITERATURE.

THREE GREAT LAWYERS.

Becarria, Bentham, and Romilly.

The Criminal Law Reformers (Becarria, Bentham, and Romilly) are known by their English names because they were all born in Spain, but their works have been translated into many languages and have had a profound influence on the development of criminal law. Their ideas were ahead of their time and continue to be relevant today.

NEW ATTENDANCE RECORD.

University Tutorial Class.

All attendances records were broken this year by the Workers' Educational Association, Dr. Heaton, who is Director of Studies. The figures show that there were more than 1,000 new students enrolled in the University this year, compared to the previous year's total of 900. This increase is due to the effective teaching methods and the high quality of the courses offered.

Business as usual.

The recent increase in crime rates has not affected the University's attendance figures. In fact, the opposite is true. The University is taking a proactive approach to crime prevention by implementing new security measures and increasing the number of police officers on campus.

The University's policy of allowing students to print and distribute their own course materials has been a success. Students have been able to save money on textbooks and have access to a wide range of course materials.

The University's efforts to reduce the cost of textbooks have been recognized by the government, which has provided a grant to the University to continue its initiative.
