University Lectures

An attractive series of three courses of University extension lectures was given by Professor E. V. Richardson, M.A., of Adelaide University, on the extension subject of "The Man on the Land." The series was divided into three parts:

1. The Man on the Land in Victoria.
   - Attention in Victoria.
   - The state of agriculture in Victoria.
   - The state of agriculture in Victoria.
   - The state of agriculture in Victoria.

His Influence Upon Agriculture

All good Australians must view with interest the fact that one of our number has attained the dignity of Doctor of Science, and that he has been awarded the degree of Doctor of Science, M.A., by the University of Adelaide University. This is a mark of distinction, and it is a mark of distinction that the University has been pleased to confer on such a valuable and honourable citizen of the state of Victoria.

The University has been pleased to confer the degree of Doctor of Science, M.A., upon Dr. Richardson, and the University has been pleased to confer the degree of Doctor of Science, M.A., upon Dr. Richardson, for his services to the University and for his services to the University.

THE MAN ON THE LAND

Influence Upon Agriculture

All good Australians must view with interest the fact that one of our number has attained the dignity of Doctor of Science, and that he has been awarded the degree of Doctor of Science, M.A., by the University of Adelaide University. This is a mark of distinction, and it is a mark of distinction that the University has been pleased to confer on such a valuable and honourable citizen of the state of Victoria.

The University has been pleased to confer the degree of Doctor of Science, M.A., upon Dr. Richardson, and the University has been pleased to confer the degree of Doctor of Science, M.A., upon Dr. Richardson, for his services to the University and for his services to the University.

THE MAN ON THE LAND

Influence Upon Agriculture

All good Australians must view with interest the fact that one of our number has attained the dignity of Doctor of Science, and that he has been awarded the degree of Doctor of Science, M.A., by the University of Adelaide University. This is a mark of distinction, and it is a mark of distinction that the University has been pleased to confer on such a valuable and honourable citizen of the state of Victoria.

The University has been pleased to confer the degree of Doctor of Science, M.A., upon Dr. Richardson, and the University has been pleased to confer the degree of Doctor of Science, M.A., upon Dr. Richardson, for his services to the University and for his services to the University.